M. VVilliam Shake-ſpeare HIS Hiſtory, of King Lear.

Enter Kent, Gloceſter, and Baſtard.

Kent.

I Thought the King had more affected the Duke of Albeney then Cornewall.

Gloſt. It did alwaies ſeeme ſo to vs, but now in the diuiſion of the Kingdomes, it appeares not which of the Dukes he values moſt, for equalities are ſo weighed, that curioſity in neither, can make choiſe of eithers moytie.

Kent. Is not this your ſonne, my Lord?

Gloſt. His breeding ſir hath beene at my charge. I haue ſo often bluſht to acknowledge him, that now I am braz'd to it.

Kent. I cannot conceiue you.

Gloſt. Sir, this young fellowes mother could, whereupon ſhe grew round wombed, and had indeed Sir a ſonne for her Cradle, ere ſhe had a husband for her bed, do you ſmell a fault?

Kent. I cannot wiſh the fault vndone, the iſſue of it being ſo proper.

Glo. But I haue ſir a ſonne by order of Law, ſome yeare elder then this, who yet is no deerer in my account, thogh this knaue came ſomething ſawcily into the world before he was ſent for, yet was his mother faire, there was good ſport at his making, & the whoreſon muſt be acknowledged, do you know this noble Gentleman, Edmund?

Baſt. No my Lord.

Glo. My Lord of Kent, remember him heereafter as my honourable friend.

Baſt. My ſeruices to your Lordſhip.

Kent. I muſt loue you, and ſue to know you better.

Baſt. Sir, I ſhall ſtudy deſeruing.

Glo. He hath beene out nine yeares, and away he ſhall again, the King is comming.

Sound a Sennet, Enter one bearing a Coronet, then Lear, then the Dukes of Albany and Cornwall, next Gonorill, Regan, Cordelia, with followers.

Lear. Attend my Lords of France and Burgundy, Gloſter.

Gloſt. I ſhall my Liege.

Lear. Meane time we will expreſſe our darker purpoſes,
The Map there; know we haue diuided
In three our Kingdome; and tis our firſt intent,
To ſhake all cares and buſineſſe of our ſtate,
Confirming them on younger yeares,
The two great Princes, France and Burgundy,
Great Riuals in our youngeſt daughters loue,
Long in our Court haue made their amorous ſoiourne,
And here are to be anſwer'd; tell me my daughters,
Which of you ſhall we ſay doth loue vs moſt,
That we our largeſt bounty may extend,
Where merit doth moſt challenge it:
Gonorill our eldeſt borne, ſpeake firſt.

Gon. Sir, I do loue you more then words can wield the matter,
Dearer then eye-ſight, ſpace, or liberty,
Beyond what can be valued rich or rare,
No leſſe then life; with grace, health, beauty, honour,
As much a childe ere loued, or father friend,
A loue that makes breath poore, and ſpeech vnable,
Beyond all manner of ſo much I loue you.

Cor. What ſhall Cordelia do, loue and be ſilent.

Lear. Of all theſe bounds, euen from this line to this,
With ſhady Forreſts, and wide skirted Meads,
We make thee Lady, to thine and Albanies iſſue,

Be this perpetuall. What ſaies our ſecond daughter?
Our deereſt Regan, wife to Cornwall, ſpeake.

Reg. Sir I am made of the ſelfe-ſame mettall that my ſiſter is
And prize me at her worth in my true heart,
I finde ſhe names my very deed of loue, onely ſhee came ſhort,
That I profeſſe my ſelfe an enemy to all other ioyes,
Which the moſt precious ſquare of ſence poſſeſſes,
And finde I am alone felicitate in your deere highneſſe loue.

Cor. Then poore Cordelia, and yet not ſo, ſince I am ſure
My loue's more richer then my tongue.

Lear. To thee and thine hereditary euer
Remaine this ample third of our faire kingdome,
No leſſe in ſpace, validity, and pleaſure,
Then that confirm'd on Gonorill; but now our ioy,
Although the laſt, not leaſt in our deere loue,
What can you ſay to win a third, more opulent
Then your ſiſters.

Cor. Nothing my Lord.

Lear. How, nothing can come of nothing, ſpeake againe.

Cor. Vnhappy that I am, I cannot heaue my heart into my mouth, I loue your Maieſty according to my bond, nor more nor leſſe.

Lear. Go too, go too, mend your ſpeech a little,
Leaſt it may marre your fortunes.

Cord. Good my Lord,
You haue begot me, bred me, loued me,
I returne thoſe duties backe as are right fit,
Obey you, loue you, and moſt honour you,
Why haue my ſiſters husbands, if they ſay they loue you all,
Haply when I ſhall wed, that Lord whoſe hand
Muſt take my plight, ſhall carry halfe my loue with him,
Halfe my care and duty, ſure I ſhall neuer
Marry like my ſiſters, to loue my father all.

Lear. But goes this with thy heart?

Cor. I good my Lord.

Lear. So young and ſo vntender?

Cor. So young my Lord, and true.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Lear. Well let it be so, thy truth then be thy dower,
For by the sacred radience of the Sunne,
The mistresse of Hecat, and the might,
By all the operation of the Orbes,
From whom we do exsist and cease to be,
Heere I disclaime all my paternall care,
Propinquity and property of bloud,
And as a stranger to my heart and me,
Hold thee from this for euer, the barbarous Scythian,
Or he that makes his generation
Messes to gorge his appetite,
Shall be as well neighbour'd, pittied and releeued,
As thou my some-time daughter.

Kent. Good my Liege.

Lear. Peace Kent, come not betweene the Dragon and his wrath
I lou'd her most, and thought to set my rest
On her kinde nursery, hence and auoid my sight:
So be my graue my peace as heere I giue,
Her fathers heart from her; call France, who stirres?
Call Burgundy, Cornwall, and Albany,
With my two daughters dower digest this third,
Let pride, which she cals plainnesse, marry her:
I do inuest you ioyntly in my power,
Preheminence, and all the large effects
That troope with Maiesty, our selfe by monthly course
With reseruation of an hundred Knights,
By you to be sustain'd, shall our abode
Make with you by due turnes, onely we still retaine
The name and all the additions to a King,
The sway, reuenue, execution of the rest,
Beloued sonnes be yours, which to confirme,
This Coronet part betwixt you.

Kent. Royall Lear,
Whom I haue euer honor'd as my King,
Loued as my Father, as my Master followed,
As my great Patron thought on in my praiers.

Lear. The bow is bent and drawne, make from the shaft.

Kent.

Kent. Let it fall rather,
Though the forke inuade the region of my heart,
Be Kent vnmannerly, when Lear is mad,
What wilt thou do old man, think'st thou that duty
Shall haue dread to speake, when power to flattery bowes,
To plainnesse honours bound, when Maiesty stoops to folly,
Reuerse thy doome, and in thy best consideration
Checke this hideous rashnesse, answer my life,
My iudgement, thy yongest daughter does not loue thee least,
Nor are those empty hearted, whose low sound
Reuerbs no hollownesse.

Lear. Kent, on thy life no more.

Kent. My life I neuer held but as a pawne
To wage against thy enemies, nor feare to lose it,
Thy safety being the motiue.

Lear. Out of my sight.

Kent. See better Lear, and let me still remaine
The true blanke of thine eie.

Lear. Now by Apollo———

Kent. Now by Apollo, King thou swear'st thy Gods in vaine.

Lear. Vassall, recreant.

Kent. Do, kill thy Physition,
And the fee bestow vpon the foule disease,
Reuoke thy doome, or whilst I can vent clamour
From my throat, ile tell thee thou dost euill.

Lear. Heare me, on thy alleigeance heare me;
Since thou hast sought to make vs breake our vow,
Which we durst neuer yet; and with straied pride,
To come betweene our sentence and our power,
Which, nor our nature, nor our place can beare,
Our potency make good, take thy reward,
Foure dayes we do allot thee for prouision,
To shield thee from diseases of the world,
And on the fift to turne thy hated backe
Vpon our kingdome; if on the tenth day following,
Thy banisht trunke be found in our Dominions,
The moment is thy death, away,

By

By Iupiter, this shall not be reuokt.

Kent. Why fare thee well King, since thou wilt appeare,
Friendship liues hence, and banishment is here;
The Gods to their protection take the maid,
That rightly thinkes, and hath most iustly said,
And your large speeches may your deeds approue,
That good effects may spring from words of loue:
Thus Kent, O Princes, bids you all adew,
Hee'l shape his old course in a Country new.

Enter France and Burgundy with Glocester.

Glo. Heer's France and Burgundy, my noble Lord.

Lear. My Lord or Burgundy, we first addresse towards you,
Who with a King hath riuald for our daughter,
What in the least will you require in present
Dower with her, or cease your quest of loue?

Burg. Roiall Maiesty, I craue no more then what
Your Highnesse offered, nor will you tender lesse?

Lear. Right noble Burgundy, when she was deare to vs,
We did hold her so, but now her price is fallen;
Sir, there she stands, if ought within that little
Seeming substance, or all of it with our displeasure peec'st,
And nothing else may fitly like your Grace,
Shee's there, and she is yours.

Burg. I know no answer.

Lear. Sir, will you with those infirmities she owes,
Vnfriended, new adopted to our hate,
Couered with our curse, and stranger'd with our oath,
Take her or leaue her.

Burg. Pardon me royall sir, election makes not vp
On such conditions.

Lear. Then leaue her sir, for by the power that made me,
I tell you all her wealth. For you great King,
I would not from your loue make such a stray,
To match you where I hate, therefore beseech you,
To auert your liking a more worthier way,
Then on a wretch whom Nature is asham'd
Almost to acknowledge hers.

Fran.

I thinke our father will hence to night.

Reg. That's most certaine, and with you, next month with vs.

Gon. You see how full of changes his age is, the obseruation we haue made of it hath not beene little; he alwaies loued our sister most, and with what poore iudgement hee hath now cast her off, appeares too grosse.

Reg. Tis the infirmity of his age, yet he hath euer but slenderly knowne himselfe.

Gono. The best and soundest of his time hath bin but rash, then must we looke to receiue frō his age, not alone the imperfection of long ingrafted condition, but therwithal vnruly waiwardnes, that infirme and cholericke yeares bring with them.

Reg. Such vnconstant stars are we like to haue from him, as this of Kents banishment.

Gono. There is further complement of leaue taking between France and him, pray lets hit together, if our Father cary authority with such dispositions as he beares, this last surrender of his will but offend vs.

Regan. We shall further thinke on't.

Gon. We must do something, and it'h heate. Exeunt.

Enter Bastard solus.

Bast. Thou Nature art my Goddesse, to thy law my seruices are bound, wherefore should I stand in the plague of custome, and permit the curiosity of Nations to depriue me, for that I am some 12. or 14. moone-shines lag of a brother: why bastard? wherefore base, when my dementions are as well compact, my minde as generous, & my shape as true as honest madams issue, why brand they vs with base, base bastardy? who in the lusty stealth of nature, take more composition and fierce quality, then doth within a stale dull lied bed, goe to the creating of a whole tribe of fops got tweene sleepe and wake; well the legitimate Edgar, I must haue your land, our Fathers loue is to the bastard Edmund, as to the legitimate: well my legitimate, if this letter speed, and my inuention thriue, Edmund the base shall tooth'legitimate: I grow, I prosper, now Gods stand vp for Bastards.

Enter Glocester.

Glost. Kent banisht thus, and France in choller parted, and

the King gone to night, subscrib'd his power, confined to exhibition, all this done vpon the gad; Edmund, how now, what newes?

Bast. So please your Lordship, none.

Glost. Why so earnestly seeke you to put vp that letter?

Bast. I know no newes, my Lord.

Glo. What paper were you reading?

Bast. Nothing my Lord.

Glost. No, what needs then that terrible dispatch of it into your pocket, the quality of nothing hath not such need to hide it selfe, lets see, come if it be nothing I shal not need spectacles.

Bast. I beseech you sir pardon me, it is a Letter from my brother, that I haue not all ore read, for so much as I haue perused, I finde it not fit for your liking.

Glost. Giue me the letter sir.

Bast. I shall offend, either to detaine or giue it, the contents as in part I vnderstand them, are too blame.

Glo. Lets see, Lets see.

Bast. I hope for my brothers iustification, he wrote this but as an essay, or taste of my vertue. A Letter.

Glost. This policy of age makes the world bitter to the best of our times, keepes our fortunes from vs till our oldnesse cannot relish them, I begin to finde an idle and fond bondage in the oppression of aged tyranny, who swaies not as it hath power, but as it is suffered, come to mee, that of this I may speake more; if our Father would sleepe till I wake him, you should enioy halfe his reuenew for euer, and liue the beloued of your brother Edgar.

Hum, conspiracy, slept till I wakt him, you should enioy halfe his reuenew: my sonne Edgar, had he a hand to write this, a hart and braine to breed it in? when came this to you, who brought it?

Bast. It was not brought me my Lord, there's the cunning of it, I found it throwne in at the casement of my Closet.

Glost. You know the carracter to be your brothers?

Bast. If the matter were good, my Lord, I durst sweare it were his, but in respect of that, I would faine think it were not.

Glost.

Glost. Is it his?

Bast. It is his hand my Lord, but I hope his heart is not in the contents.

Glost. Hath he neuer heeretofore sounded you in this businesse?

Bast. Neuer my Lord, but I haue often heard him maintaine it to be fit, that sonnes at perfit age, and fathers declining, his father should be as Ward to the sonne, and the sonne mannage the reuenew.

Glost. O villaine, villaine, his very opinion in the Letter, abhorrid villaine, vnnaturall detested bruitish villaine, worse then bruitish, go sir seeke him; I, apprehend him, abhominable villaine, where is he?

Bast. I do not well know my Lord, if it shall please you to suspend your indignation against my brother, till you can derriue from him better testimony of this intent, you shal runnne a certaine course, where if you violently proceed against him, mistaking his purpose, it would make a great gap in your owne honour, and shake in peeces the heart of his obedience, I dare pawne downe my life for him, hee hath wrote this to feele my affection to your Honour, and to no further pretence of danger.

Glost. Thinke you so?

Bast. If your Honour iudge it meete, I will place you where you shall heare vs conferre of this, and by an aurigular assurance haue your satisfaction, and that without any further delay then this very euening.

Glost. He cannot be such a monster.

Bast. Nor is not sure.

Glost. To his father, that so tenderly and entirely loues him: heauen and earth! Edmund seeke him out, winde me into him, I pray you frame your busines after your owne wisedome, I wold vnstate my selfe to be in a due resolution.

Bast. I shall seeke him sir presently, conuey the businesse as I shall see meanes, and acquaint you withall.

Glo. These late Eclipses in the Sunne and Moone, portend no good to vs, though the wisedome of nature can reason thus and thus, yet nature findes it selfe scourg'd by the sequent effects, loue cooles, friendſhip fals off, brothers diuide, in Cities mutinies, in Countries diſcords, Pallaces treaſon, the bond crackt betweene ſonne and father; finde out this villaine, Edmund it ſhall loſe thee nothing, do it carefully; and the noble and true hearted Kent baniſht, his offence honeſt; ſtrange, ſtrange!

Baſt. This is the excellent foppery of the world, that when we are ſicke in Fortune, often the ſurfet of our owne behauiour, we make guilty of our diſaſters, the Sunne, the Moone, and the ſtars, as if we were villaines by neceſſity, fooles by heauenly compulſion, knaues, theeues, and trecherers by ſpirituall predominance, drunkards, liars, and adulterers by an enforc'ſt obedience of planitary influence, and all that we are cuill in, by a diuine thruſting on, an admirable euaſion of whore-maſter man, to lay his goatiſh diſpoſition to the charge of ſtars; my Father compounded with my Mother vnder the Dragons taile, & my natiuity was vnder Vrſa maior, ſo that it followes I am rough & lecherous; Fut, I ſhould haue beene that I am, had the maidenleſt ſtarre of the Firmament twinckled on my baſtardy; Edgar,

Enter Edgar.

& out he comes like the Cataſtrophe of the old Comedy, mine is villanous melancholy, with a ſigh like them of Bedlam; O theſe Eccliſes do portend theſe diuiſions.

Edgar. How now brother Edmund, what ſerious contemplation are you in?

Baſt. I am thinking brother of a prediction I read this other day, what ſhould follow theſe Eccliſes.

Edg. Doe you buſie your ſelfe about that?

Baſt. I promiſe you the effects he writ of, ſucceed vnhappily, as of vnnaturalneſſe betweene the childe and the parent, death, dearth, diſſolutions of ancient armies, diuiſions in ſtate, menaces and maledictions againſt King and Nobles, needleſſe diffidences, baniſhment of friends, diſſipation of Cohorts, nuptiall breaches, and I know not what.

Edg. How long haue you bin a ſectary Aſtronomicall?

Baſt. Come, come, when ſaw you my father laſt?

Edg. Why the night gone by.

Baſt. Spake you with him?

Two

Edg. Two houres together.

Baſt. Parted you in good tearmes? found you no diſpleaſure in him by word or countenance?

Edg. None at all.

Baſt. Bethinke your ſelfe wherein you may haue offended him, and at my entreaty, forbeare his preſence, till ſome little time hath qualified the heate of his diſpleaſure, which at this inſtant ſo rageth in him, that with the miſchiefe of your perſon it would ſcarſe allay.

Edg. Some villaine hath done me wrong.

Baſt. That's my feare brother, I aduiſe you to the beſt, goe arm'd, I am no honeſt man if there be any good meaning towards you, I haue told you what I haue ſeen & heard, but faintly, nothing like the image and horror of it; pray you away.

Exit Edgar.

Edg. Shall I heare from you anon?

Baſt. I do ſerue you in this buſineſſe:

A credulous Father, and a brother noble,
Whoſe nature is ſo farre from doing harmes,
That he ſuſpects none, on whoſe fooliſh honeſty
My practiſes ride eaſie, I ſee the buſineſſe,
Let me if not by birth, haue lands by wit,
All with me's meete, that I can faſhion fit.

Exit.

Enter Gonorill and a Gentleman.

Gon. Did my Father ſtrike my gentleman for chiding of his foole?

Gent. Yes Madam.

Gon. By day and night he wrongs me,
Euery houre he flaſhes into one groſſe crime or other,
That ſets vs all at ods, Ile not endure it;
His knights grow riotous, and himſelfe vpbraids vs
On euery trifle when he returnes from hunting,
I will not ſpeake with him, ſay I am ſicke,
If you come ſlacke of former ſeruices,
You ſhall do well, the fault of it Ile anſwer.

Gent. Hee's comming Madam, I heare him.

Gon. Put on what weary negligence you pleaſe, you and your fellow-ſeruants, Ide haue it come in queſtion, if he diſlike it, let him

him to our sister, whose minde & mine I know in that are one, not to be ouer-rulde; idle olde man that still would manage those authorities that he hath giuen away, now by my life olde fooles are babes againe, and must be vsed with checkes as flatteries, when they are seene abus'd, remember what I tell you.

Gent. Very well, Madam.

Gon. And let his Knights haue colder lookes among you, what growes of it no matter, aduise your fellowes so, I would breed from hence occasions, and I shall, that I may speake, Ile write straight to my sister to hold my very course; goe prepare for dinner. Exit.

Enter Kent.

Ken. If but as well I other accents borrow, that can my speech defuse, my good intent may carry through it selfe to that full issue for which I raizd my likenesse; now banisht Kent, if thou canst serue where thou dost stand condemn'd, thy master whom thou loues't, shall finde the full of labour.

Enter Lear.

Lear. Let me not stay a iot for dinner, goe get it ready: how now, what art thou?

Kent. A man sir.

Lear. What dost thou professe? what wouldst thou with vs?

Kent. I doe professe to bee no lesse then I seeme, to serue him truely that wil put me in trust, to loue him that is honest, to conuerse with him that is wise and saies little, to feare iudgement, to fight when I cannot chuse, and to eate no fish.

Lear. What art thou?

Kent. A very honest hearted fellow, and as poore as the King.

Lear. If thou be as poore for a subiect, as he is for a king, thou art poore enough, what wouldst thou?

Kent. Seruice. Lear. Who wouldst thou serue?

Kent. You. Lear. Dost thou know me fellow?

Kent. No sir, but you haue that in your countenance, which I would faine call Master.

Lear. What's that? Kent. Authority.

Lear. What seruices canst thou do?

Kent. I can keepe honest counsaile, ride, run, marre a curious tale tale in telling it, and deliuer a plaine message bluntly, that which ordinary men are fit for, I am qualified in, and the best of me, is diligence.

Lear. How old art thou?

Kent. Not so young to loue a woman for singing, nor so old to dote on her for any thing, I haue yeares on my backe forty eight.

Lear. Follow me, thou shalt serue me, if I like thee no worse after dinner, I will not part from thee yet; dinner ho, dinner, where's my knaue, my foole, goe you and call my foole hether, you sirra, where's my daughter?

Enter Steward.

Steward. So please you———

Lear. What saies the fellow there? call the clat-pole backe, where's my foole? ho, I thinke the world's asleepe, how now, where's that mungrell?

Kent. He saies my Lord, your daughter is not well.

Lear. Why came not the slaue backe to me when I call'd him?

Seruant. Sir, he answered me in the roundest mannner, hee would not.

Lear. He would not?

Seruant. My Lord, I know not what the matter is, but to my iudgement, your Highnesse is not entertain'd with that ceremonious affection as you were wont, there's a great abatement appeares as well in the generall dependants, as in the Duke himselfe also, and your daughter.

Lear. Ha, saist thou so?

Seruant. I beseech you pardon me my Lord, if I be mistaken, for my duty cannot be silent, when I thinke your Highnesse is wrong'd.

Lear. Thou but remembrest me of mine owne conception, I haue perceiued a most faint neglect of late, which I haue rather blamed as mine owne iealous curiosity, then as a very pretence and purport of vnkindnes; I will look further into it, but wher's this foole? I haue not seene him this two daies.

Seruant. Since my young Ladies going into France sir, the foole hath much pined away.

Lear. No more of that, I haue noted it, goe you and tell my daughter, I would speake with her, go you call hither my foole; O you sir, you sir, come you hither, who am I sir?

Stew. My Ladies Father.

Lear. My Ladies father, my Lords knaue, you whoreson dog, you slaue, you curre.

Stew. I am none of this my Lord, I beseech you pardon me.

Lear. Do you bandy lookes with me you rascall?

Stew. Ile not be strucke my Lord.

Kent. Nor tript neither, you base football plaier.

Lear. I thanke thee fellow, thou seru'st me, and ile loue thee.

Kent. Come sir, ile teach you differences, away, away, if you will measure your lubbers length againe, tarry, but away, you haue wisedome.

Lear. Now friendly knaue I thanke thee, there's earnest of thy seruice.

Enter Foole.

Foole. Let me hire him too, here's my coxcombe.

Lear. How now my pretty knaue, how dost thou?

Foole. Sirra, you were best take my coxcombe.

Kent. Why Foole?

Foole. Why for taking ones part that's out of fauour, nay and thou canst not smile as the winde sits, thou't catch colde shortly, there take my coxcombe; why this fellow hath banisht two of his daughters, and done the third a blessing against his will, if thou follow him, thou must needs weare my coxcombe, how now nunckle, would I had two coxcombes, and two daughters.

Lear. Why my boy?

Foole. If I gaue them any liuing, ide keepe my coxcombe my selfe, theres mine, beg another of thy daughters.

Lear. Take heed sirra, the whip.

Foole. Truth is, a dog that must to kennell, he must bee whipt out, when Lady oth'e brach may stand by the fire and stinke.

Lear. A pestilent gull to me.

Foole. Sirra, ile teach thee a speech. Lear. Do.

Foole. Marke it Vnckle; haue more then thou shewest, speake lesse then thou knowest, lend lesse then thou owest, ride more then thou goest, learne more then thou trowest, set lesse then thou throwest; leaue thy drinke and thy whore, and keepe in a doore, and thou shalt haue more, then two tens to a score.

Lear. This is nothing foole.

Foole. Then like the breath of an vnfeed Lawyer, you gaue me nothing for it; can you make no vse of nothing Vncle?

Lear. Why no boy, nothing can be made out of nothing.

Foole. Prethee tell him, so much the rent of his land comes to, he will not beleeue a foole.

Lear. A bitter foole.

Foole. Dost thou know the difference my boy, betweene a bitter foole, and a sweete foole.

Lear. No lad, teach me.

Foole. That Lord that counsaild thee to giue away thy Land,
Come place him heere by me, do thou for him stand,
The sweete and bitter foole will presently appeare,
The one in motley here, the other found out there.

Lear. Dost thou call me foole boy?

Foole. Al thy other Titles thou hast giuen away, that thou wast borne with.

Kent. This is not altogether foole my Lord.

Foole. No faith, Lords and great men will not let me, if I had a monopolie out, they would haue part on't, and knaues too, they will not let me haue all foole to my selfe, they'l be snatching; giue me an egge Nunckle, and ile giue thee two crownes.

Lear. What two crownes shall they be?

Foole. Why after I haue cut the egge in the middle and eate vp the meate, the two crownes of the egge: when thou clouest thy crowne in the middle, and gauest away both parts, thou borest thy asse on thy back ore the dirt, thou hadst little wit in thy bald crowne, when thou gauest thy golden one away; if I speak like my selfe in this, let him be whipt that first findes it so.

Fooles had nere lesse wit in a yeare,
For wise men are growne foppish,
They know not how their wits do weare,
Their manners are so apish.

Lear. When were you wont to be so full of songs sirra?

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Foole. I haue vſed it Nuncle, euer ſince thou mad'ſt thy daughters thy mother, for when thou gaueſt them the rod, and putſt downe thine owne breeches, then they for ſudden ioy did weep, and I for ſorrow ſung, that ſuch a King ſhould play bo-peepe, and goe the fooles among: prethee Nunckle keepe a ſchoolemaſter that can teach thy foole to lie, I would faine learne to lie.

Lear. If you lie, wee'l haue you whipt.

Foole. I maruell what kin thou and thy daughters are, they'l haue me whipt for ſpeaking true, thou wilt haue mee whipt for lying, and ſometime I am whipt for holding my peace, I had rather be any kinde of thing then a foole, and yet I would not bee thee Nunckle, thou haſt pared thy wit a both ſides, and left nothing in the middle; heere comes one of the parings.

Enter Gonorill.

Lear. How now daughter, what makes that Frontlet on,
Me-thinkes you are too much alate it'h frowne.

Foole. Thou waſt a pretty fellow when thou hadſt no neede to care for her frowne, thou, thou art an O without a figure, I am better then thou art now, I am a foole, thou art nothing, yes forſooth I will hold my tongue, ſo your face bids me, though you ſay nothing.
Mum, mum, he that keepes neither cruſt nor crum,
Weary of all, ſhall want ſome. That's a ſheald peſcod.

Gon. Not onely ſir this, your all-licenc'd foole, but other of your inſolent retinue do hourely carpe and quarrell, breaking foorth in ranke and (not to be endured riots) Sir, I had thought by making this well knowne vnto you, to haue found a ſafe redreſſe, but now grow fearefull by what your ſelfe too late haue ſpoke and done, that you protect this courſe, and put on by your allowance, which if you ſhould, the fault would not ſcape cenſure, nor the redreſſe ſleepe, which in the tender of a wholeſome weal, might in their working do you that offence, that elſe were ſhame, that then neceſſity muſt call diſcreete proceedings.

Foole. For you trow Nuncle, the hedge-ſparrow fed the Cookow ſo long, that it had it head bit off beit young, ſo out went the Candle, and we were left darkling.

Lear. Are you our Daughter?

Gon.

Gonorill. Come ſir, I would you would make vſe of that good wiſedome whereof I know you are fraught, and put away theſe diſpoſitions, that of late transforme you from what you rightly are.

Foole. May not an Aſſe know when the Cart drawes the horſe, whoop Iug I loue thee.

Lear. Doth any here know me? why this is not Lear; doth Lear walke thus? ſpeake thus? where are his eies, either his notion, weakneſſe, or his diſcernings are lethergy, ſleeping or waking; ha! ſure tis not ſo, who is it that can tell me who I am? Lears ſhadow? I would learne that, for by the markes of ſoueraignty, knowledge, & reaſon, I ſhould be falſe perſwaded I had daughters.

Foole. Which they, will make an obedient Father.

Le. Your name faire gentlewoman?

Gon. Come ſir, this admiration is much of the ſauour of other your new prankes; I do beſeech you vnderſtand my purpoſes aright, as you are old and reuerend, you ſhould be wiſe, heere doe you keepe one hundred Knights and Squires, men ſo diſordered, ſo deboyſt and bold, that this our Court infected with their manners, ſhewes like a riotous Inne, epicuriſme and luſt make more like a Tauerne or Brothell, then a great Pallace, the ſhame it ſelfe doth ſpeake for inſtant remedy, bee thou deſired by her, that elſe will take the thing ſhe begs, a little to diſquantity your traine, and the remainder that ſhall ſtill depend, to be ſuch men as may beſort your age, and know themſelues and you.

Lear. Darkneſſe and Diuels! ſaddle my horſes, call my traine together, degenerate baſtard, ile not trouble thee; yet haue I left a daughter.

Gon. You ſtrike my people, and your diſordered rabble, make ſeruants of their betters.

Enter Duke.

Lear. We that too late repent's vs; O ſir, are you come? Is it your will that we prepare any horſes, ingratitude! thou marble-hearted fiend, more hideous when thou ſheweſt thee in a childe, then the Sea-monſter, deteſted kite, thou leſſen my traine and men of choiſe and rareſt parts, that all particulars of duty know, and in the most exact regard, support the worshippes of their name, O most small fault, how vgly didst thou in Cordelia shew, that like an engine wrencht my frame of nature from the fixt place, drew from my heart all loue, & added to the gall; ô Lear, Lear! beate at this gate that let thy folly in, and thy deare iudgment out, goe, goe, my people?

Duke. My Lord, I am guiltlesse as I am ignorant.

Lear. It may be so my Lord, harke Nature, heare deere Goddesse, suspend thy purpose, if thou didst intend to make this creture fruitefull, into her wombe conuey sterility, dry vp in her the Organs of encrease, and from her derogate body neuer spring a babe to honor her; if she must teem, create her childe of spleen, that it may liue and be a thourt disuetur'd torment to her, let it stampe wrinckles in her brow of youth, with accent teares, fret channels in her cheekes, turne all her mothers paines and benefits to laughter and contempt, that shee may feele, how sharper then a serpents tooth it is, to haue a thanklesse childe, goe, goe, my people?

Duke. Now Gods that we adore, whereof comes this!

Gon. Neuer afflict your selfe to know the cause, but let his disposition haue that scope that dotage giues it.

Lear. What, fifty of my followers at a clap, within a fortnight?

Duke. What is the matter sir?

Lear. Ile tell thee, life and death! I am asham'd that thou hast power to shake my man-hood thus, that these hot teares that breake from me perforce, should make the worst blasts and fogs vpon the vntender woundings of a fathers curse, perus'd euery sence about the olde fond eies, be-weepe this cause againe, ile plucke you out, and you cast with the waters that you make to temper clay, yea, is it come to this? yet haue I left a daughter, whom I am sure is kinde and comfortable, when she shall heare this of thee, with her nailes shee'l fley thy woluish visage, thou shalt finde that ile resume the shape, which thou doest thinke I haue cast off for euer, thou shalt I warrant thee. Exit.

Gon. Do you marke that my Lord?

Duke. I cannot be so partiall Gonorill to the great loue I beare you.

Gon.

Gon. Come sir, no more; you, more knaue then foole, after your master.

Foole. Nuncle Lear, Nuncle Lear, tarry and take the foole with a fox when one has caught her, and such a daughter, should sure to the slaughter, if my cap would buy a halter, so the foole followes after.

Gon. What Oswald, ho.

Oswald. Heere Madam.

Gon. What, haue you writ this letter to my sister?

Osw. Yes Madam.

Gon. Take you some company, and away to horse, informe her full of my particular feares, and thereto adde such reasons of your owne, as may compact it more, get you gone, and after your returne——now my Lord, this mildie gentleneſſe and course of yours though I dislike not, yet vnder pardon y'are much more a-lapt want of wisedome, then praise for harmfull mildnesse.

Duke. How farre your eies may pierce I cannot tell,
Striuing to better ought, we marre what's well.

Gon. Nay then—— Exit.

Duke. Well, well, the euent.

Enter Lear, Kent, and Foole.

Lear. Go you before to Gloceſter with these Letters, acquaint my daughter no further with any thing you know, then comes from her demand out of the Letter, if your diligence be not speedie, I shall be there before you.

Kent. I will not sleepe my Lord, till I haue deliuered your letter. Exit.

Foole. If a mans braines were in his heeles, wert not in danger of kybes? Lear. I boy.

Foole. Then I prethee be merry, thy wit shall nere go slipshod.

Lear. Ha, ha, ha.

Foole. Shalt see thy other daughter will vse thee kindly, for though she is as like this, as a crabbe is like an apple, yet I con, what I can tell.

Lear. Why what canst thou tell my boy?

Foole. Shee'l taste as like this, as a crab doth to a crab; thou canst

canst not tell why ones nose stands in the middle of his face?

Lear. No.

Foole. Why to keep his eyes on either side his nose, that what a man cannot smell out, he may spy into.

Lear. I did her wrong!

Foole. Canst tell how an Oyster makes his shell.

Lear. No.

Foole. Nor I neyther; but I can tell why a snayle has a house.

Lear. Why?

Foole. Why to put his head in, not to giue it away vnto his daughter, and leaue his hornes without a case.

Lear. I will forget my nature, so kinde a father; bee my horses ready?

Foole. Thy Asses are gone about them; the reason why the seuen starres are no more then seuen, is a pretty reason.

Lear. Because they are not eight.

Foole. Yes, thou wouldst make a good foole.

Lear. To tak't againe perforce; monster, ingratitude!

Foole. If thou wert my foole Nunckle, Ide haue thee beaten for being olde before thy time.

Lear. How's that?

Foole. Thou shouldst not haue beene olde, before thou hadst beene wise.

Lear. O let me not be mad sweete heauen! I would not bee mad, keepe me in temper, I would not bee mad; are the Horses ready?

Seruant. Ready my Lord.

Lear. Come boy. Exit.

Foole. She that is maid now, and laughs at my departure, Shall not be a maid long, except things be cut shorter.

Exit.

Enter Bastard, and Curan meetes him.

Bast. Saue thee Curan.

Curan. And you sir, I haue beene with your father, and giuen him notice, that the Duke of Cornwall and his Dutchesse will be here with him to night.

Bast. How comes that?

Curan.

Curan. Nay I know not, you haue heard of the newes abroad, I meane the whisperd ones, for there are yet but eare-busSing arguments.

Bast. Not, I pray you what are they?

Curan. You may then in time, fare you well sir. Exit.

Bast. The Duke be here to night! the better best, this weaues it selfe perforce into my businesse, my father hath set guard to take my brother, & I haue one thing of a quesie question, which

Enter Edgar.

must aske, breefenesse and fortune helpe; brother a word, discend brother I say, my father watches, O flie this place, intelligence is giuen where you are hid, you haue now the good aduantage of the night, haue you not spoken against the Duke of Cornwall ought, hee's coming hether now in the night, it'h haste, and Regan with him, haue you nothing saide vpon his party against the Duke of Albaney, aduise your——

Edg. I am sure on't not a word.

Bastard. I heare my father comming, pardon me in crauing, I must draw my sword vpon you, seeme to defend your selfe, now quit you well, yeeld, come before my father, light heere, heere, flie brother flie, torches, torches, so farwell; some bloud drawne on me would beget opinion of my more fierce endeuor, I haue seene drunkards do more then this in sport; father, father, stop, stop, no helpe?

Enter Glocester.

Glost. Now Edmund, where's the villaine?

Bast. Heere stood he in the darke, his sharpe sword out, warbling of wicked charmes, coniuring the Moone to stand his auspicious Mistris.

Glost. But where is he?

Bast. Looke sir, I bleed.

Glost. Where is the villaine, Edmund?

Bast. Fled this way sir, when by no meanes he could——

Glost. Pursue him, go after, by no meanes, what?

Bast. Perswade me to the murder of your Lordship, but that I tolde him the reuengiue Gods, gainst Paracides did all their thunders bend, spoke with how many fould and strong a bond the child was bound to the father; sir, in a fine, seeing how lothly opposite I stood to his vnnaturall purpose, with fell motion with his prepared sword, he charges home my vnprouided body, launcht mine arme; but when he saw my best alarumd spirits bold in the quarrels right, rouzd to the encounter, or whether gasted by the noise I made, but sodainly he fled.

Gloſt. Let him flie farre, not in this Land shall he remaine vncaught and found; dispatch, the Noble Duke my master, my worthy Arch and Patron comes to night, by his authority I will proclaime it, that he which findes him shall deserue our thankes, bringing the murderous caytiffe to the stake, he that conceales him, death.

Baſt. When I disswaded him from his intent, and found him pight to do it, with curst speech I threatned to discouer him; he replied, Thou vnpossessing bastard, dost thou thinke, if I would stand against thee, could the reposure of any trust, vertue, or worth in thee make thy words faith'd? no: what I should deny, as this I would, I, thogh thou didst produce my very character, ide turne it all to thy suggestion, plot, and damned pretence, and thou must make a dullard of the world, if they not thought the profits of my death were very pregnant and potentiall spurres to make thee seeke it.

Gloſt. Strong and fastened villaine, would he deny his letter? I neuer got him: harke, the Dukes trumpets, I know not why he comes; all Ports ile barre, the villaine shall not scape, the Duke must grant me that: besides, his picture I wil send far and neere, that all the kingdome may haue note of him, and of my land, (loyall and naturall boy) ile worke the meanes to make thee capable.

Enter the Duke of Cornwall.

Corn. How now my noble friend, since I came hether, which I can call but now, I haue heard strange newes.

Reg. If it be true, all vengeance comes too short which can pursue the offender; how dost my Lord?

Gloſt. Madam, my old heart is crakt, is crakt.

Reg. What, did my fathers godson seeke your life? he whom my my father named your Edgar?

Gloſt. I Lady, Lady, shame would haue it hid.

Reg. Was he not companion with the ryotous Knights that tends vpon my father?

Gloſt. I know not Madam, tis too bad, too bad.

Baſt. Yes madam, he was.

Reg. No maruaile then though he were ill affected,
Tis they haue put him on the old mans death,
To haue these——and waste of this his reuenues:
I haue this present euening from my sister
Beene well inform'd of them, and with such cautions,
That if they come to soiourne at my house, ile not be there.

Duke. Nor I, assure thee Regan; Edmund, I heard that you haue shewne your father a child-like office.

Baſt. Twas my duty sir.

Gloſt. He did betray his practise, and receiued
This hurt you see, striuing to apprehend him.

Duke. Is he pursued?

Gloſt. I my good Lord.

Duke. If he be taken, he shall neuer more be feard of doing harme, make your owne purpose how in my strength you please; for you Edmund, whose vertue and obedience doth this instant so much commend it selfe, you shall be ours, natures of such deep trust, we shall much need, you we first seize on.

Baſt. I shall serue you truely, how euer else.

Gloſt. For him I thanke your Grace.

Duke. You know not why we came to visite you?

Regan. Thus out of season, threatning darke eide night,
Occasions noble Gloceſter of some prize,
Wherein we must haue vse of your aduice,
Our father he hath writ, so hath our sister,
Of defences, which I best thought it fit,
To answer from our hand, the seuerall messengers
From hence attend dispatch, our good old friend,
Lay comforts to your bosome, & bestow your needfull counsell
To our businesse, which craues the instant vse.

Exit. Gloſt.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Glo. I serue you Madam, your Graces are right welcome.

Enter Kent, and Steward.

Steward. Good euen to thee friend, art of the house?

Kent. I.

Steward. Where may we set our horses?

Kent. In the mire.

Stew. Prethee if thou loue me, tell me.

Kent. I loue thee not.

Stew. Why then I care not for thee.

Kent. If I had thee in Lipsbury pinfold, I would make thee care for me.

Stew. Why dost thou vse me thus? I know thee not.

Kent. Fellow I know thee.

Stew. What dost thou know me for?

Kent. A knaue, a rascall, an eater of broken meates, a base, proud, shallow, beggerly, three shewted hundred pound, filthy worsted-stocken knaue, a lilly liuer'd action taking knaue, a whoreson glasse-gazing superfinicall rogue, one trunke inheriting slaue, one that would'st be a baud in way of good seruice, & art nothing but the composition of a knaue, begger, coward, pander, and the sonne and heire of a mungrell bitch, whom I will beate into clamorous whining, if thou deny the least sillable of the addition.

Stew. What a monstrous fellow art thou, thus to raile on one that's neither knowne of thee, nor knowes thee.

Kent. What a brazen-fac'st varlet art thou, to deny thou knowest me, is it two daies agoe since I beate thee, and tript vp thy heeles before the King? draw you rogue, for though it be night the Moon shines, ile make a sop of the Moone-shine a'you, draw you whoreson cullyonly barber-munger, draw.

Stew. Away, I haue nothing to do with thee.

Kent. Draw you rascall, you bring Letters against the King, & take Vanity the puppets part, against the royalty of her father, draw you rogue, or ile so carbonado your shankes, draw you rascall, come your wayes.

Stew. Helpe, ho, murther, helpe.

Kent.

Kent. Strike you slaue, stand rogue, stand you neate slaue, strike.

Stew. Helpe, ho, murther, helpe.

Enter Edmund with his Rapier drawne, Gloceſter, the Duke and Dutcheſſe.

Baſt. How now, what's the matter?

Ken. With you goodman boy, and you please come, ile flesh you, come on yong master.

Gloſt. Weapons, armes, what's the matter here?

Duke. Keepe peace vpon your liues, he dies that strikes againe, what's the matter?

Reg. The messengers from our sister, and the King.

Duke. What's your difference, speake?

Stew. I am scarse in breath my Lord.

Kent. No maruaile you haue so bestir'd your valour, you cowardly rascall, nature disclaimes in thee, a Taylor made thee.

Duke. Thou art a strange fellow, a Taylour make a man?

Kent. I, a taylour sir, a Stone-cutter, or a Painter could not haue made him so ill, though he had bene but two houres at the trade.

Gloſt. Speake yet, how grew your quarrell?

Stew. This ancient ruffian sir, whose life I haue spar'd at sute of his gray-beard.

Kent. Thou whoreson Zed, thou vnnecessary letter, my Lord if you will giue me leaue, I will tread this vnbolted villaine into morter, and daube the wals of a Iaques with him; spare my gray-beard you wagtaile?

Duke. Peace sir, you beastly knaue you haue no reuerence.

Kent. Yes sir, but anger has a priuiledge.

Duke. Why art thou angry?

Kent. That such a slaue as this should weare a sword,
That weares no honesty, such smiling rogues as these,
Like Rats oft bite those cordes in twaine,
Which are to intrench, to inloose smooth euery passion
That in the natures of their Lords rebell,

Bring oile to ſtir, ſnow to their colder moods,
Reneag, affirme, and turne their halcion beakes
With euery gale and vary of their maſters,
Knowing nought like daies but following,
A plague vpon your Epelipticke viſage,
Smoile you my ſpeeches, as I were a foole?
Gooſe, if I had you vpon Sarum Plaine,
Ide ſend you cackling home to Camulet.
Duke. What, art thou mad olde fellow?
Gloſt. How fell you out, ſay that?
Kent. No contraries hold more antipathy,
Then I and ſuch a knaue.
Duke. Why doſt thou call him knaue, what's his offence?
Kent. His countenance likes me not.
Duke. No more perchance doth mine, or his, or hers.
Kent. Sir, tis my occupation to be plaine,
I haue ſeene better faces in my time,
Than ſtands on any ſhoulder that I ſee
Before me at this inſtant.
Duke. This is a fellow, who hauing beene praiſd
For bluntneſſe, doth affect a ſaucie ruffines,
And conſtraines the garb quite from his nature,
He cannot flatter he, he muſt be plaine,
He muſt ſpeake truth, and they will take it ſo,
If not hee's plaine, theſe kinde of knaues I know,
Which in this plainneſſe harbour more craft,
And more corrupter ends, then twenty ſilly ducking
Obſeruants, that ſtretch their duties nicely.
Kent. Sir in good ſooth, or in ſincere verity,
Vnder the allowance of your grand aſpect.
Whoſe influence like the wreath of radient fire
In flitkering Phœbus front.
Duke. What meanſt thou by this?
Kent. To go out of my dialogue which you diſcommend ſo much; I know ſir, I am no flatterer, he that beguild you in a plain accent, was a plaine knaue, which for my part I wil not be, though I ſhould win your diſpleaſure to entreate me to it.

Duke.

Duke. What's the offence you gaue him?
Stew. I neuer gaue him any, it pleaſd the King his maſter
Very late to ſtrike at me vpon his miſconſtruction,
When he coniunct and flattering his diſpleaſure
Tript me behinde, being downe, inſulted, raild,
And put vpon him ſuch a deale of man, that
That worthied him, got praiſes of the King,
For him attempting who was ſelfe ſubdued,
And in the flechuent of this dread exploit,
Drew on me heere againe.
Kent. None of theſe roges & cowards but Ajax is their foole.
Duke. Bring foorth the ſtockes ho?
You ſtubborne miſcreant knaue, you vnreuerent bragart,
Wee'l teach you.
Kent. I am too olde to learne, call not your ſtockes for me,
I ſerue the King, on whoſe imploiments I was ſent to you,
You ſhould do ſmall reſpect, ſhew too bold malice
Againſt the grace and perſon of my maſter,
Stopping his Meſſenger.
Duke. Fetch foorth the ſtockes; as I haue life and honour,
There ſhall he ſit till noone.
Reg. Till noone, till night my Lord, and all night too.
Kent. Why Madam, if I were your fathers dog, you could not vſe me ſo.
Reg. Sir, being his knaue, I will.
Duke. This is a fellow of the ſame nature,
Our ſiſter ſpeakes off, come, bring away the ſtockes.
Gloſt. Let me beſeech your Grace not to do ſo,
His fault is much, and the good King his Maſter
Will checke him for't; your purpoſd low correction
Is ſuch, as baſeſt and temneſt wretches for pilfrings
And moſt common treſpaſſes are puniſht with,
The King muſt take it ill, that hee's ſo ſlightly valued
In his Meſſenger, ſhould haue him thus reſtrained.
Duke. Ile anſwer that.
Reg. My ſiſter may receiue it much more worſe,
To haue her gentleman abuſed, aſſaulted

For following her affaires, put in his legs,
Come my Lord, away. Exit.

Gloſt. I am ſorry for thee friend, tis the Dukes pleaſure,
Whoſe diſpoſition all the world well knowes
Will not be rub'd nor ſtopt, Ile intreate for thee.

Kent. Pray you do not ſir, I haue watcht and trauaild hard,
Some time I ſhall ſleepe out, the reſt Ile whiſtle,
A good mans fortune may grow out at heeles,
Giue you good morrow.

Gloſt. The Duke's too blame in this, twill be ill tooke.
Exit.

Kent. Good King, that muſt approue the common ſaw,
Thou out of heauens benediction comeſt
To the warme Sunne.
Approach thou beacon to this vnder-globe,
That by thy comfortable beames I may
Peruſe this letter, nothing almoſt ſees my wracke
But miſery, I know tis from Cordelia,
Who hath moſt fortunately bene informed
Of my obſcured courſe, and ſhall finde time
From this enormious ſtate, ſeeking to giue
Loſſes their remedies, all weary and ouer-watcht,
Take vantage heauy eies not to behold
This ſhamefull lodging; Fortune goodnight,
Smile, once more turne thy wheele. He ſleepes.

Enter Edgar.

Edgar, I heare my ſelfe proclaim'd,
And by the happy hollow of a Tree,
Eſcapt the hunt, no Port is free, no place
That guard, and moſt vnuſuall vigilence
Doſt not attend my taking while I may ſcape,
I will preſerue my ſelfe, and am bethought
To take the baſeſt and moſt pooreſt ſhape,
That euer penury in contempt of man,
Brought neere to beaſt; my face ile grime with filth,
Blanket my loines, elſe all my haire with knots,

And with preſented nakednes out-face
The winde, and perſecution of the skie,
The Country giues me proofe and preſident
Of Bedlam beggers, who with roring voices,
Strike in their numb'd and mortified bare Armes,
Pins, wooden prickes, nailes, ſprigs of roſemary,
And with this horrible obiect from low ſeruice,
Poore pelting villages, ſheep-coates, and milles,
Sometime with lunaticke bans, ſometime with praiers
Enforce their charity, poore Turlygod, poore Tom,
That's ſomething yet, Edgar I nothing am. Exit.

Enter King, and a Knight.

Lear. Tis ſtrange that they ſhould ſo depart from hence,
And not ſend backe my meſſenger.

Knight. As I learn'd, the night before there was
No purpoſe of his remoue.

Kent. Haile to thee noble Maſter.

Lear. How, mak'ſt thou this ſhame thy paſtime?

Foole. Ha, ha, looke, he weares crewell garters,
Horſes are tide by the heeles, dogs and beares
By the necke, munkies by the loines, and men
By the legs, when a man's ouer-luſty at legs,
Then he weares wooden neather-ſtockes.

Lear. What's he, that hath ſo much thy place miſtooke to ſet thee here?

Kent. It is both he and ſhe, your ſonne and daughter.

Lear. No.

Kent. Yes.

Lear. No I ſay.

Kent. I ſay yea.

Lear. No, no, they would not.

Kent. Yes they haue.

Lear. By Iupiter I ſweare no, they durſt not do it,

Thou maiſt deſerue, or they purpoſe this vſage,
Comming from vs.

Kent. My Lord, when at their home
I did commend your Highneſſe Letters to them,
Ere I was riſen from the place that ſhewed
My duty kneeling, came there a reeking Poſte,
Stewd in his haſte, halfe breathleſſe, panting forth
From Gonorill his Miſtris, ſalutations,
Deliuered letters ſpite of intermiſſion,
Which preſently they read; on whoſe contents
They ſummond vp their men, ſtraight tooke horſe,
Commanded me to follow, and attend the leiſure
Of their anſwer, gaue me cold lookes,
And meeting heere the other Meſſenger,
Whoſe welcome I perceiu'd had poiſoned mine,
Being the very fellow that of late
Diſplaid ſo ſawcily againſt your Highneſſe,
Hauing more man then wit about me, drew;
He raiſed the houſe with loud and coward cries,
Your ſonne and daughter found this treſpaſſe worth
This ſhame which here it ſuffers.

Lear. O how this mother ſwels vp toward my heart,
Hiſtorica paſſio downe thou climing ſorrow,
Thy element's below, where is this daughter?

Kent. With the Earle ſir within.

Lear. Follow me not, ſtay there.

Knight. Made you no more offence then what you ſpeake of?

Kent. No, how chance the King comes with ſo ſmall a traine?

Foole. If thou hadſt beene ſet in the ſtockes for that queſtion, thou hadſt well deſerued it.

Kent. Why foole?

Foole. Wee'l ſet thee to ſchoole to an Ant, to teach thee ther's no labouring in the winter, all that follow their noſes, are led by their eyes, but blinde men, and there's not a noſe among a hundred, but can ſmell him that's ſtincking; let goe thy hold when a great wheele runs downe a hill, leaſt it breake thy necke with following it, but the great one that goes vp the hil, let him draw thee thee after, when a wiſe man giues thee better counſell, giue mee mine againe, I would haue none but knaues follow it, ſince a foole giues it.

That Sir that ſerues for gaine,
And followes but for forme;
Will packe when it begins to raine,
And leaue thee in the ſtorme.
But I will tarry, the foole will ſtay,
And let the wiſe man flie:
The knaue turnes foole that runnes away,
The foole no knaue perdy.

Kent. Where learnt you this foole?

Foole. Not in the ſtockes.

Enter Lear and Gloceſter.

Lear. Deny to ſpeake with me? th'are ſicke, th'are weary,
They traueld hard to night, meare Iuſtice,
I the images of reuolt and flying off,
Fetch me a better anſwer.

Gloſt. My deare Lord, you know the fiery quality of the Duke, how vnremoueable and fixt he is in his owne courſe.

Lear. Veangeance, death, plague, confuſion, what fiery quality; why Gloceſter, Gloceſter, ide ſpeake with the Duke of Cornewall, and his wife.

Gloſt. I my good Lord.

Lear. The King would ſpeake with Cornwall, the deare father
Would with his daughter ſpeake, commands her ſeruice,
Fiery Duke, tell the hot Duke that Lear,
No but not yet, may be he is not well,
Infirmity doth ſtill neglect all office, where to our health
Is bound, we are not our ſelues, when nature being oppreſt,
Commands the minde to ſuffer with the body; ile forbeare,
And am fallen out with my more headier will,
To take the indiſpoſed and ſickly fit, for the ſound man,
Death on my ſtate, wherefore ſhould he ſit here?
This acte perſwades me, that this remotion of the Duke & her

Is practiſe, onely giue me my ſeruant foorth;
Tell the Duke and's wife, Ile ſpeake with them
Now preſently, bid them come forth and heare me,
Or at their chamber doore Ile beate the drum,
Till it cry ſleepe to death.

Glost. I would haue all well betwixt you.

Lear. O my heart! my heart.

Foole. Cry to it Nunckle, as the Cockney did to the Eeles, when ſhe put them vp i'th paſte aliue, ſhe rapt vm ath coxcombs with a ſticke, and cryed downe wantons, downe; twas her brother, that in pure kindneſſe to his horſe, butterd his hay.

Enter Duke and Regan.

Lear. Good morrow to you both.

Duke. Haile to your Grace.

Reg. I am glad to ſee your Highneſſe.

Lear. Regan, I thinke you are, I know what reaſon
I haue to thinke ſo; if thou ſhouldſt not be glad,
I would diuorce me from thy mothers toombe,
Sepulchring an adultereſſe, yea, are you free?
Some other time for that. Beloued Regan,
Thy ſiſter is naught, ô Regan ſhe hath tied
Sharpe tooth'd vnkindneſſe, like a vulture heere.
I can ſcarſe ſpeake to thee, thou't not beleeue,
Of how depriued a quality, O Regan.

Reg. I pray ſir take patience, I haue hope
You leſſe know how to value her deſert,
Then ſhe to ſlacke her duty.

Lear. My curſes on her.

Reg. O ſir, you are olde,
Nature on you ſtands on the very verge of her Confine,
You ſhould be ruled and led by ſome diſcretion,
That diſcernes your ſtate better then you your ſelfe,
Therefore I pray, that to our ſiſter you do make returne,
Say you haue wrongd her ſir.

Lear. Aske her forgiueneſſe,
Do you marke how this becomes the houſe?

Deare daughter, I confeſſe that I am old,
Age is vnneceſſary, on my knees I beg,
That you'l vouchſafe me rayment, bed and food.

Reg. Good ſir no more, theſe are vnſightly tricks,
Returne you to my ſiſter.

Lear. No Regan,
She hath abated me of halfe my traine,
Lookt backe vpon me, ſtroke me with her tongue,
Moſt ſerpent-like vpon the very heart,
All the ſtor'd vengeances of heauen fall on her ingratefull top,
Strike her young bones, you taking aires with lamneſſe.

Duke. Fie, fie ſir.

Lear. You nimble lightnings dart your blinding flames
Into her ſcornfull eies, infect her beauty,
You Fen ſuckt fogs, drawne by the powerfull Sunne,
To fall and blaſt her pride.

Reg. O the bleſt Gods, ſo will you wiſh on me,
When the raſh mood———

Lear. No Regan, thou ſhalt neuer haue my curſe,
The tender hefted nature ſhall not giue thee ore
To harſhnes, her eies are fierce, but thine do comfort & not burn
Tis not in thee to grudge my pleaſures, to cut off my traine,
To bandy haſty words, to ſcant my ſizes,
And in concluſion, to oppoſe the bolt
Againſt my comming in, thou better knoweſt
The offices of nature, bond of child-hood,
Effects of curteſie, dues of gratitude,
Thy halfe of the kingdome, haſt thou not forgot
Wherein I thee endowed.

Reg. Good ſir to the purpoſe.

Lear. Who put my man i'th ſtockes?

Duke. What trumpets that?

Enter Steward.

Reg. I know't my ſiſters, this approues her letters,
That ſhe would ſoone be here, is your Lady come?

Lear. This is a ſlaue, whoſe eaſie borrowed pride

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Dwels in the fickle grace of her he followes,
Out varlet, from my sight.

Duke. What means your Grace?

Enter Gonorill.

Gon. Who stucke my seruant? Regan, I haue good hope
Thou didst not know ant.

Lear. Who comes here? O heauens!
If you do loue olde men, if you sweet sway alow
Obedience, if your selues are old, make it your cause,
Send downe and take my part;
Art not asham'd to looke vpon this beard?
O Regan, wilt thou take her by the hand?

Gon. Why not by the hand sir, how haue I offended?
All's not offence that indiscretion findes,
And dotage tearmes so.

Lear. O sides, you are too tough,
Will you yet hold? how came my man i'th stockes?

Duke. I set him there, but his owne disorders
Deseru'd much lesse aduancement.

Lear. You; did you?

Reg. I pray you father being weake, seeme so,
If till the expiration of your moneth,
You will returne and soiourne with my sister,
Dismissing halfe your traine, come then to me,
I am now from home, and out of that prouision
Which shall be needfull for your entertainment.

Lear. Returne to her, and fifty men dismist?
No, rather I abiure all roofes, and chuse
To wage against the enmity of the ayre,
To be a Comrade with the Wolfe and Owle,
Necessities sharpe pinch, returne with her:
Why the hot blood in France, that dowerles
Tooke our yongest borne, I could as well be brought To knee his Throne, and Squire-like pension beg,
To keepe base life afoote; returne with her?
Perswade me rather to be slaue and sumpter

To

To this detested groome.

Gon. At your choise sir.

Lear. Now I prethee daughter do not make me mad,
I will not trouble thee my childe, farwell,
Wee'l no more meete, no more see one another.
But yet thou art my flesh, my bloud, my daughter,
Or rather a disease that lies within my flesh,
Which I must needs call mine, thou art a byle,
A plague sore, an imbossed carbuncle in my
Corrupted bloud, but Ile not chide thee,
Let shame come when it will, I do not call it,
I do not bid the thunder-bearer shoote,
Nor tell tales of thee to high iudging Ioue,
Mend when thou canst, be better at thy leisure,
I can be patient, I can stay with Regan,
I and my hundred Knights.

Reg. Not altogether so sir, I looke not for you yet,
Nor am prouided for your fit welcome,
Giue eare to my sister, for those
That mingle reason with your passion,
Must be content to thinke you are old, and so,
But she knowes what she does.

Lear. Is this well spoken now?

Reg. I dare auouch it sir, what fifty followers,
Is it not well? what should you need of more,
Yea or so many, sith that both charge and danger
Speakes gainst so great a number, how in a house
Should many people vnder two commands,
Hold amity, tis hard, almost impossible.

Gon. Why might not you my Lord, receiue attendance
From those that she cals seruants, or from mine?

Reg. Why not my Lord? if then they chanc'st to slacke you,
We could controle them; if you will come to me,
(For now I spie a danger) I entreate you
To bring but fiue and twenty, to no more
Will I giue place or notice.

Lear. I gaue you all.

Reg.

Reg. And in good time you gaue it.
Lear. Made you my guardians, my depositaries,
But kept a reseruation to be followed
With such a number, what, must I come to you
With fiue and twenty, Regan, said you so?
Reg. And speak't againe my Lord, no more with me.
Lear. Those wicked creatures yet do seeme well-fauour'd
When others are more wicked, not being the worst,
Stands in some ranke of praise, Ile go with thee,
Thy fifty yet doth double fiue and twenty,
And thou art twice her loue.
Gon. Heare me my Lord;
What need you fiue and twenty, ten, or fiue,
To follow in a house, where twice so many
Haue a command to tend you?
Regan. What needs one?
Lear. O reason not the deed, our baasest beggers
Are in the poorest thing superfluous,
Allow not nature more then nature needs,
Mans life's as cheap as beasts; thou art a Lady,
If onely to go warme were gorgious,
Why nature needs not what thou gorgious weareſt,
Which scarsely keepes thee warme, but for true need,
You heauens giue me that patience, patience I need,
You see me heere (you Gods) a poore old fellow,
As full of greefe as age, wretched in both,
If it be you that stirres these daughters hearts
Against their Father, foole me not too much,
To beare it lamely, touch me with noble anger,
O let not womens weapons, water drops
Staine my mans cheekes, no you vnnaturall hags,
I will haue such reuenges on you both,
That all the world shall——I will do such things,
What they are, yet I know not, but they shall be
The terrors of the earth; you thinke ile weepe,
No, ile not weepe, I haue full cause of weeping,
But this heart shall breake in a thousand flowes

Ere

Ere ile weepe; o foole, I shall go mad.

Exeunt Lear, Gloceſter, Kent, and Foole

Duke. Let vs withdraw, twill be a storme.
Reg. This house is little, the old man and his people,
Cannot be well bestowed.
Gon. Tis his owne blame hath put himselfe from rest,
And must needs taste his folly.
Reg. For his particular, ile receiue him gladly,
But not one follower.
Duke. So am I purpos'd, where is my Lord of Gloceſter?

Enter Gloceſter.

Reg. Followed the old man forth, he is return'd.
Glo. The King is in high rage, and will I know not whether.
Reg. Tis good to giue him way, he leads himselfe.
Gon. My Lord, entreate him by no meanes to stay.
Glo. Alacke, the night comes on, and the bleake windes
Do sorely russell, for many miles about there's not a bush.
Reg. O sir, to wilfull men,
The iniuries that they themselues procure,
Must be their schoole-masters, shut vp your doores,
He is attended with a desperate traine,
And what they may incense him too, being apt,
To haue his eare abused, wisedome bids feare.
Duke. Shut vp your doores my Lord, tis a wilde night,
My Regan counsels well, come out ath storme.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Kent and a Gentleman at seuerall doores.

Kent. What's heere beside foule weather?
Gent. One minded like the weather, most vnquietly.
Kent. I know you, where's the King?
Gent. Contending with the fretfull Element,
Bids the winde blow the earth into the sea,
Or swell the curled waters boue the maine,
That things might change or cease, teares his white haire,
Which the impetuous blasts with eieleſſe rage
Catch in their fury, and make nothing of,
Striues in his little world of man to out-scorne,

The

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

The too and fro conflicting winde and raine,
This night wherein the cub-drawne Beare would couch,
The Lyon, and the belly pinched Wolfe
Keepe their furre dry, vnbonneted he runnes,
And bids what will take all.

Kent. But who is with him?

Gent. None but the foole, who labours to out-ieft
His heart ſtrooke iniuries.

Kent. Sir I do know you,
And dare vpon the warrant of my Arte,
Commend a deare thing to you, there is diuiſion,
Although as yet the face of it be couer'd
With mutuall cunning, twixt Albany and Cornwall.
But true it is, from France there comes a power
Into this ſcatterd kingdom, who already wiſe in our negligence
Haue ſecret fee in ſome of our beſt Ports,
And are at point to ſhew their open banner,
Now to you, if on my credite you dare build ſo farre,
To make your ſpeed to Douer, you ſhall finde
Some that will thanke you, making iuſt report
Of how vnnaturall and bemadding ſorrow
The King hath cauſe to plaine;
I am a Gentleman of blood and breeding,
And from ſome knowledge and aſſurance,
Offer this Office to you.

Gent. I will talke farther with you.

Kent. No do not,
For confirmation that I much more
Then my outwall, open this purſe and take
What it containes, if you ſhall ſee Cordelia,
As doubt not but you ſhall, ſhew her this ring,
And ſhe will tell you who your fellow is,
That yet you do not know, fie on this ſtorme,
I will goe ſeeke the King.

Gent. Giue me your hand, haue you no more to ſay?

Kent. Few words, but to effect more then all yet,
That when we haue found the King,

Ile this way, you that, he that firſt lights
On him, hollow the other. Exeunt.

Enter Lear and Foole.

Lear. Blow winde and cracke your cheekes, rage, blow
You cartericke, and Hircanios ſpout till you haue drencht
The ſteeples, drownd the cockes, you ſulpherous and Thought executing fires, vaunt-currers to
Oke-cleauing thunder-bolts, ſing my white head,
And thou all ſhaking thunder, ſmite flat
The thicke rotundity of the world, cracke natures
Mold, all Germains ſpill at once that make Ingratefull man.

Foole. O Nunckle, Court holy water in a dry houſe
Is better then this raine water out a doore,
Good Nunckle in, and aske thy daughters bleſſing,
Here's a night pitties neyther wiſe man nor foole.

Lear. Rumble thy belly full, ſpit fire, ſpout raine,
Nor raine, winde, thunder, fire, are my daughters,
I taske not you, you Elements with vnkindneſſe,
I neuer gaue you kingdome, cald you children,
You owe me no ſubſcription; why then let fall your horrible
Pleaſure, here I ſtand your ſlaue, a poore, infirme, weake, and Deſpiſed old man, but yet I call you ſeruile
Miniſters, that haue with two pernitious daughters ioyn'd
Your high engendered battell gainſt a head ſo old and white
As this, O tis foule.

Foole. He that has a houſe to put his head in, has a good head-peece, the codpeece that will houſe before the head, has any the head and he ſhall lowſe, ſo beggers marry many, the man that makes his toe, what he his heart ſhould make, ſhall haue a corne cry woe, and turne his ſleepe to wake, for there was neuer yet faire woman, but ſhe made mouthes in a glaſſe.

Lear. No, I will be the patterne of all patience,
I will ſay nothing.

Enter Kent.

Kent. Who's there?

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Foole. Marry heere's grace and a codpis, that's a wiseman and a foole.

Kent. Alasse sir, sit you heere?
Things that loue night, loue not such nights as these;
The wrathfull Skies gallow, the very wanderer of the Darke, and makes them keepe their caues,
Since I was man, such sheetes of fire,
Such bursts of horrid thunder, such grones of Roring winde and raine, I nere remember
To haue heard, mans nature cannot carry
The affliction, nor the force.

Lear. Let the great Gods that keepe this dreadfull
Thundring ore our heads, finde out their enemies now,
Tremble thou wretch that hast within thee
Vndivulged crimes, vnwhipt of Iustice,
Hide thee thou bloudy hand, thou periur'd, and
Thou simular man of vertue that art incestious,
Caytiffe in peeces shake, that vnder couert
And conuenient seeming, hast practised on mans life,
Close pent vp guilts, riue your concealed centers,
And cry these dreadfull summoners grace,
I am a man more sind against their sinning.

Kent. Alacke bare headed, gracious my Lord, hard by here is a houell, some friendship will it lend you gainst the tempest, repose you there, whilst I to this hard house, more hard then is the stone whereof tis rais'd, which euen but now demanding after me, denide me to come in, returne and force their scanted curtesie.

Lear. My wit begins to turne,
Come on my boy, how dost my boy, art cold?
I am cold my selfe, where is this straw my fellow,
The art of our necessities is strange, that can
Make vilde things precious, come you houell poore,
Foole and knaue, I haue one part of my heart
That sorrowes yet for thee.

Foole. He that has a little tine wit, with hey ho the winde and the raine, must make content with his fortunes fit, for the raine, it raineth euery day.

Lear. True my good boy, come bring vs to this houell.

Enter Gloceſter, and the Baſtard with lights.

Gloſt. Alacke, alacke, Edmund I like not this Vnnaturall dealing, when I desired their leaue
That I might pitty him, they tooke from me
The vse of mine owne house, chargd me on paine
Of their displeasure, neither to speake of him,
Entreate for him, nor any way sustaine him.

Baſt. Most sauage and vnnaturall. (Dukes,

Gloſt. Go too, say you nothing, there's a diuision betwixt the
And a worse matter then that, I haue receiued
A letter this night, tis dangerous to be spoken,
I haue lockt the letter in my Closet, these iniuries
The King now beares, will be reuenged home;
There's part of a power already landed,
We must incline to the King, I will seeke him,
And priuily releeue him; go you and maintaine talke
With the Duke, that my charity be not of him
Perceiued; if he aske for me, I am ill, and gone
To bed, though I die for it, as no lesse is threatned me,
The King my old Master must be releeued, there is
Some strange thing toward, Edmund, pray you be carefull.

Exit.

Baſt. This courtesie forbid thee, shall the Duke instantly know,
And of that letter to, this seemes a faire deseruing,
And must draw to me that which my father loses, no lesse
Then all, then yonger rises when the old do fall.

Exit.

Enter Lear, Kent, and Foole.

Kent. Here is the place my Lord, good my Lord enter, the tirrany of the open night's too ruffe for nature to endure.

Lear. Let me alone.

Kent. Good my Lord enter.

Lear. Wilt breake my heart?

Kent. I had rather breake mine owne, good my Lord enter.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Lear. Thou thinkſt tis much, that this crulentious ſtorme
Inuades vs to the skin, ſo tis to thee,
But where the greater malady is fixt,
The leſſer is ſcarſe felt, thou wouldſt ſhun a Beare,
But if thy flight lay toward the raging ſea,
Thoud'ſt meete the beare it'h mouth, when the mind's free,
The bodies delicate, the tempeſt in my minde,
Doth from my ſences take all feeling elſe,
Saue what beares their filiall ingratitude,
Is it not as this mouth ſhould teare this hand
For lifting food to it? but I will puniſh ſure;
No I will weepe no more; in ſuch a night as this!
O Regan, Gonorill, your old kinde father
Whoſe franke heart gaue you all, O that way madneſſe lies,
Let me ſhunne that, no more of that.

Kent. Good my Lord enter.

Lear. Prethee go in thy ſelfe, ſeeke thy owne eaſe,
This tempeſt will not giue me leaue to ponder
On things would hurt me more, but Ile go in,
Poore naked wretches, where ſo ere you are
That bide the pelting of this pittileſſe night,
How ſhall your houſe-leſſe heads, and vnfed ſides,
Your loopt and windowed raggedneſſe defend you
From ſeaſons ſuch as theſe, O I haue tane
Too little care of this, take phyſicke pompe,
Expoſe thy ſelfe to feele what wretches feele,
That thou maiſt ſhake the ſuperflux to them,
And ſhew the heauens more iuſt.

Foole. Come not in here Nunckle, here's a ſpirit, helpe me, help me.

Kent. Giue me thy hand, who's there?

Foole. A ſpirit, he ſayes his name is poore Tom.

Kent. What art thou that doſt grumble there in the ſtraw? come foorth.

Edg. Away, the foule fiend followes me; through the ſharpe hathorne blowes the cold winde, goe to thy cold bed & warme thee,

Lear.

Lear. Haſt thou giuen all to thy two daughters, and art thou come to this?

Edg. Who giues any thing to poore Tom, whom the foule fiend hath led through fire, and throgh foord, and whirli-poole, ore bog and quagmire, that has laide kniues vnder his pillow, & halters in his pue, ſet ratsbane by his pottage, made him proud of heart, to ride on a bay trotting horſe ouer foure incht bridges, to courſe his owne ſhadow for a traitor, bleſſe thy fiue wits, Toms a cold, bleſſe thee from whirle-windes, ſtarre-bluſting, & taking, do poore Tom ſome charity, whom the foule fiend vexes, there could I haue him now, and there, and there againe.

Lear. What, his daughters brought him to this paſſe,
Couldſt thou ſaue nothing? didſt thou giue them all?

Foole. Nay he reſerued a blanket, elſe wee had beene all ſhamed.

Lear. Now all the plagues that in the pendulous ayre
Hang fated ore mens faults, fall on thy daughters.

Kent. He hath no daughters ſir.

Lear. Death traitor, nothing could haue ſubdued nature
To ſuch a lowneſſe, but his vnkinde daughters,
Is it the faſhion that diſcarded fathers,
Should haue thus little mercy on their fleſh,
Iudicious puniſhment, twas this fleſh
Begot thoſe Pelicane daughters.

Edg. Pilicock ſate on pelicocks hill, a lo lo lo.

Foole. This cold night will turne vs all to fooles & madmen.

Edg. Take heed of the foule fiend, obey thy parents, keepe thy words iuſtly, ſweare not, commit not with mans ſworne ſpouſe, ſet not thy ſweet heart on proud array; Toms a cold.

Lear. What haſt thou beene?

Edg. A ſeruingman, proud in heart and minde, that curlde my haire, wore gloues in my cap, ſerued the luſt of my miſtris heart, and did the acte of darkneſſe with her, ſwore as many oaths as I ſpake words, and broke them in the ſweete face of heauen, one that ſlept in the contriuing of luſt, and wak't to do it, wine lo-ued I deepely, dice dearely, and in woman, out paramord the Turke, falſe of heart, light of eare, bloudy of hand, hog in ſloth,

Fox

Fox in ſtealth, Wolfe in greedineſſe, Dog in madneſſe, Lyon in prey, let not the creeking of ſhooes, nor the ruſtlings of ſilkes betray thy poore heart to women, keepe thy foote out of brothell, thy hand out of placket, thy pen from lenders booke, and defie the foule fiend, ſtill through the hathorne blowes the colde winde, hay no on ny, Dolphin my boy, my boy, ceaſe let him trot by.

Lear. Why thou wert better in thy graue, then to anſwer with thy vncouered body this extremity of the skies; is man no more but this? conſider him well, thou oweſt the worme no ſilke, the beaſt no hide, the ſheep no wooll, the cat no perfume, he'rs three ones are ſophiſticated, thou art the thing it ſelfe, vnaccomodated man is no more but ſuch a poore bare forked Animal as thou art, off, off you leadings, come on be true.

Foole. Prithee Nunckle be content, this is a naughty night to ſwim in, now a little fire in a wilde field, were like an old lechers heart, a ſmall ſparke, all the reſt in body colde, looke here comes a walking fire.

Enter Gloteſter.

Edg. This is the foule fiend Sirberdegibit, he begins at curfue, and walks till the firſt cocke, he gins the web, the pinqueuer the eye, and makes the hart lip, mildewes the white wheate, & hurts the poore creature of earth, ſwithald footed thrice the olde anelthu night Moore and her nine fold bid her, O light and her troth plight and arint thee, with arint thee.

Kent. How fares your Grace?

Lear. What's he?

Kent. Whoſe there? what iſt you ſeeke?

Gloſt. What are you there? your names.

Edg. Poore Tom, that eates the ſwimming frog, the toade, the toade pold, the wall-wort, and the water, that in the fruite of his heart, when the foule fiend rages,
Eates cowdung for ſallets, ſwallowes the old rat, and the ditch-dog, drinkes the greene mantle of the ſtanding poole, who is whipt from tything to tything, and ſtock-puniſht and impriſoned, who hath had three ſutes to his backe, ſixe ſhirts to his body, horſe to ride, and weapon to weare.

But

But Mice and Rats, and ſuch ſmall Deere,
Hath beene Toms food for ſeuen long yeare.
Beware my follower, peace ſnulbug, peace thou fiend.

Gloſt. What, hath your Grace no better company?

Edg. The Prince of darknes is a Gentleman, modo hee's called, and ma hu——

Gloſt. Our fleſh and bloud is growne ſo vilde my Lord, that it doth hate what gets it.

Edg. Poore Toms a colde.

Gloſt. Go in with me, my duty cannot ſuffer to obey in al your daughters hard commands, though their iniunction be to barre my doores, and let this tyranous night take hold vpon you, yet haue I venter'd to come ſeeke you out, and bring you where both food and fire is ready.

Lear. Firſt let me talke with this Philoſopher;
What is the cauſe of thunder?

Kent. My good Lord take his offer, go into the houſe.

Lear. Ile talke a word with this moſt learned Theban; what is your ſtudy?

Edg. How to preuent the fiend, and to kill vermine.

Lear. Let me aske you one word in priuate.

Kent. Importune him to goe my Lord, his wits begin to vnſettle.

Gloſt. Canſt thou blame him?
His daughters ſeeke his death. O that good Kent,
He ſaid it would be thus, poore baniſht man,
Thou ſaiſt the King growes mad, ile tell thee friend,
I am almoſt mad my ſelfe; I had a ſonne
Now out-lawed from my bloud, he ſought my life
But lately, very late, I lou'd him friend,
No father his ſonne dearer, truth to tell thee,
The greefe has craz'd my wits.
What a night's this? I do beſeech your Grace.

Lear. O cry you mercy noble Philoſopher, your company.

Edg. Tom's a cold.

Gloſt In fellow there, into th'houell, keepe thee warme.

Lear. Come, let's in all.

Kent. This way my Lord.

Lear. With him I will keepe ſtill, with my Philoſopher.

Kent. Good my Lord ſooth him; let him take the fellow.

Gloſt. Take him you on.

Kent. Sirra come on, go along with vs.

Lear. Come good Athenian.

Gloſt. No words, no words, huſh.

Edg. Childe Rowland, to the darke towne come,
His word was ſtill fye, fo, and fum,
I ſmell the bloud of a Britiſh man.

Enter Cornwall and Baſtard.

Corn. I will haue my reuenge ere I depart the houſe.

Baſt. How my Lord I may be cenſured, that nature thus giues way to loyalty, ſome-thing feares me to thinke of.

Corn. I now perceiue it was not altogether your brothers euil diſpoſition made him ſeeke his death, but a prouoking merit, ſet a worke by a reproueable badneſſe in himſelfe.

Baſt. How malicious is my fortune, that I muſt repent to bee iuſt? this is the Letter he ſpoke off, which approues him an intelligent partie to the aduantages of France, O heauens, that his treaſon were, or not I the detecter.

Corn. Go with me to the Dutches.

Baſt. If the matter of this paper be certaine, you haue mighty buſineſſe in hand.

Corn. True or falſe, it hath made thee Earle of Gloceſter, ſeeke out where thy father is, that he may be ready for our apprehenſion.

Baſt. If I finde him comforting the King, it will ſtuffe his ſuſpition more fully, I will perſeuere in my courſe of loyalty, though the conflict be ſore betweene that and my bloud.

Corn. I will lay truſt vpon thee, and thou ſhalt finde a dearer father in my loue. Exit.

Enter Gloceſter, Lear, Kent, Foole, and Tom.

Gloſt. Here is better then the open ayre, take it thankfully, I will peece out the comfort with what addition I can, I will not be be long from you.

Kent. All the power of his wits haue giuen way to impatience, the Gods deſerue your kindneſſe.

Edg. Fretereto cals me, and tels me Nero is an angler in the lake of darkneſſe, pray innocent beware the foule fiend.

Foole. Prethee Nunckle tell me, whether a mad man may bee a Gentleman or a Yeoman.

Lear. A King, a King, to haue a thouſand with red burning ſpits come hiſſing in vpon them.

Edg. The foule fiend bites my backe.

Foole. Hee's mad that truſts in the tameneſſe of a Wolfe, a horſes health, a boyes loue, or a whores oath.

Lear. It ſhall be done, I will arraigne them ſtraight,
Come ſit thou heere moſt learned Iuſtice,
Thou ſapient ſir, ſit heere, now you ſhee Foxes——

Edg. Looke where he ſtands and glars, wantſt thou eies at triall madam, come ore the broome Beſſy to me.

Foole. Her boat hath a leake, and ſhe muſt not ſpeak,
Why ſhe dares not come ouer to thee.

Edg. The foule fiend haunts poore Tom in the voyce of a nightingale, Hoppedance cries in Toms belly for two white herring,
Croke not blacke Angell, I haue no food for thee.

Kent. How do you ſir? ſtand you not ſo amaz'd, will you lie downe and reſt vpon the Cuſhions?

Lear. Ile ſee their triall firſt, bring in their euidence, thou robbed man of iuſtice take thy place, & thou his yoke-fellow of equity, bench by his ſide, you are o'th commiſſion, ſit you too.

Ed. Let vs deale iuſtly, ſleepeſt or wakeſt thou iolly ſhepheard,
Thy ſheepe bee in the corne, and for one blaſt of thy minikin mouth, thy ſheepe ſhall take no harme, Pur the cat is gray.

Lear. Arraigne her firſt, tis Gonorill, I here take my oath before this honourable aſſembly ſhe kickt the poore King her father.

Foole. Come hither Miſtreſſe, is your name Gonorill.

Lear. She cannot deny it.

Foole. Cry you mercy, I tooke you for a ioynt ſtoole.

Lear. And heres another whoſe warpt lookes proclaime
What ſtore her heart is made an, ſtop her there,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Armes, armes, sword, fire, corruption in the place,
False Iusticer, why hast thou let her scape?
Edg. Bless thy fiue wits.
Kent. O pitty sir, where is the patience now,
That you so oft haue boasted to retaine.
Edg. My teares begin to take his part so much,
They'l marre my counterfeting.
Lear. The little dogs and all,
Trey, Blanch, and Sweet-hart, see they barke at me.
Edg. Tom will throw his head at them, auant you curs.
Be thy mouth, or blacke or white, tooth that poisons if it bite,
Mastiue, Gray-hound, Mungrel, Grim-hound, or Spaniell, Brach or Him, Bobtaile tike, or Trundle-taile, Tom will make them weepe and waile. For with throwing thus my head, dogs leape the hatch, and all are fled, loudla doodla, come march to wakes, and faires, and market townes, poore Tom thy horne is dry.
Lear. Then let them anotomize Regan, see what breeds about her,
Hart is there any cause in nature that makes this hardnesse;
You sir, I entertaine you for one of my hundred,
Onely I do not like the fashion of your garment; you'l say
They are Persian attire, but let them be changed.
Kent. Now good my Lord lie here a while.
Lear. Make no noise, make no noise, draw the Curtaines, so,
so, so, wee'l go to supper in the morning, so, so, so.

Enter Gloceſter.

Gloſt. Come hither friend, where is the King my master?
Kent. Here sir, but trouble him not, his wits are gone.
Gloſt. Good friend, I prethee take him in thy armes,
I haue ore-heard a plot of death vpon him,
There is a Litter ready, lay him in it, and driue towards Douer, friend,
Where thou shalt meete both welcome and protection; take vp thy master,
If thou shouldst dally halfe an houre, his life with thine,
And all that offer to defend him, stand in assured losse,
Take

Take vp to keepe, and follow me that will to some prouisio
Giue thee quicke conduct.
Kent. Oppressed nature sleepes,
This rest might yet haue balmed thy broken sinewes,
Which if conuenience will not allow, stand in hard cure,
Come helpe to beare thy Master, thou must not stay behinde.
Exit.
Gloſt. Come, come, away.
Edg. When we our betters see bearing our woes,
We scarsely thinke our miseries our foes.
Who alone suffers, most i'th minde,
Leauing free things and happy showes behinde,
But then the minde much sufferance doth ore-skip,
When griefe hath mates, and bearing fellowship:
How light and portable my paine seemes now,
When that which makes me bend, makes the King bow;
He childed as I fatherd, Tom away,
Marke the high noises, and thy selfe bewray,
When false opinion, whose wrong thoughts defile thee,
In thy iust proofe repeals and reconciles thee,
What will hap more to night, safe scape the King,
Lurke, lurke.

Enter Cornwall, Regan, Gonorill, and Bastard.

Corn. Poste speedily to my Lord your husband, shew him this Letter,
The army of France is landed, seeke out the villaine Gloceſter.
Regan, Hang him instantly.
Gon. Plucke out his eyes.
Corn. Leaue him to my displeasure, Edmund keepe you our ii-
ster company. The reuenge we are bound to take vpon your trai-
terous father, are not fit for your beholding, aduise the Duke where you are going to a most festuant preparation, wee are bound to the like.
Our poste shall be swift and intelligence betwixt vs;
Farwell deare sister, farwell my Lord of Gloceſter.
How now, wheres the King?

Enter

Enter Steward.

Stew. My Lord of Gloceſter hath conueyed him hence,
Some fiue or ſixe and thirty of his Knights hot queſtrits after him, met him at gate, who with ſome other of the Lords dependants are gone with him towards Douer, where they boaſt to haue well armed friends.

Corn. Get horſes for your miſtris.

Gon. Farwell ſweet Lord and ſiſter.

Exit Gon. and Baſt.

Corn. Edmund farwell: go ſeeke the traitor Gloceſter,
Pinion him like a theefe, bring him before vs,
Though we may not paſſe vpon his life
Without the forme of iuſtice, yet our power
Shall do a curteſie to our wrath, which men may blame
But not controle; who's there, the traitor?

Enter Gloceſter, brought in by two or three.

Reg. Ingratefull Fox tis he.

Corn. Binde faſt his corky armes.

Gloſt. What meanes your Graces, good my friends conſider,
You are my gueſts, do me no foule play friends.

Corn. Binde him I ſay.

Reg. Hard, hard, O filthy traitor!

Gloſt. Vnmercifull Lady as you are, I am true.

Corn. To this chaire binde him, villaine thou ſhalt find——

Gloſt. By the kinde Gods tis moſt ignobly done, to plucke me by the beard.

Reg. So white, and ſuch a Traitor, (my chin,

Gloſt. Naughty Lady, theſe haires which thou doſt rauiſh frō
Will quicken and accuſe thee, I am your hoſt:
With robbers hands, my hoſpitable fauours
You ſhould not ruffell thus, what will you do?

Corn. Come ſir, what letters had you late from France?

Reg. Be ſimple anſwerer, for we know the truth.

Corn. And what confederacy haue you with the traitors lately footed in the kingdome?

Reg. To whoſe hands haue you ſent the lunaticke king, ſpeak?

Gloſt.

Gloſt. I haue a letter gueſſingly ſet downe,
Which came from one that's of a neutrall heart,
And not from one oppoſed.

Corn. Cunning.

Reg. And falſe.

Corn. Where haſt thou ſent the King?

Gloſt. To Douer.

Reg. Wherefore to Douer? waſt thou not charg'd at perill——

Corn. Wherefore to Douer? let him firſt anſwer that.

Gloſt. I am tide tot'h ſtake, and I muſt ſtand the courſe.

Reg. Wherefore to Douer ſir?

Gloſt. Becauſe I would not ſee thy cruell nayles
Plucke out his poore olde eyes, nor thy fierce ſiſter
In his aurynted fleſh raſh boriſh phangs,
The ſea with ſuch a ſtorme of his lou'd head
In hell blacke night endur'd, would haue laid vp
And quencht the ſteeled fires, yet poore old heart,
He holpt the heauens to rage,
If Wolues had at thy gate heard that dearne time,
Thou ſhouldſt haue ſaid, good Porter turne the key,
All cruels elſe ſubſcrib'd, but I ſhall ſee
The winged vengeance ouertake ſuch children.

Corn. See't ſhalt thou neuer, fellowes hold the chaire,
Vpon thoſe eies of thine, Ile ſet my foote.

Gloſt. He that will thinke to liue till he be old——
Giue me ſome helpe, ô cruell, ô ye Gods!

Reg. One ſide will mocke another, tother to.

Corn. If you ſee vengeance——

Seruant. Hold your hand my Lord,
I haue ſeru'd you euer ſince I was a childe, (hold.
But better ſeruice haue I neuer done you, then now to bid you

Reg. How now you dog.

Ser. If you did weare a beard vpon your chin, ide ſhake it on this quarrell, what do you meane?

Corn. My villaine. Draw and fight.

Ser. Why then come on, and take the chance of anger.

Reg. Giue me thy ſword, a peſant ſtand vp thus.

She

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

She takes a sword, and runs at him behinde.

Seruant. Oh I am slaine my Lord, yet haue you one eye left to see some mischiefe on him, oh! He dies.

Corn. Least it see more, preuent it, out vilde Ielly,
Where is thy luster now?

Glost. All darke and comfortles, wheres my sonne Edmund?
Edmund vnbridle all the sparkes of nature, to quit this horrid acte.

Reg. Out villaine, thou calst on him that hates thee, it was hee that made the ouerture of thy treasons to vs, who is too good to pitty thee.

Glost. O my follies, then Edgar was abused,
Kinde Gods forgiue me that, and prosper him.

Reg. Goe thrust him out at gates, and let him smell his way to Douer, how ist my Lord? how looke you?

Corn. I haue receiued a hurt, follow me Lady,
Turne out that eyelesse villaine, throw this slaue vpon
The dunghill, Regan I bleed apace, vntimely
Comes this hurt, giue me your arme. Exit.

Seruant. Ile neuer care what wickednesse I do,
If this man come to good.

2. Seruant. If she liue long, and in the end meet the old course of death, women will all turne monsters.

1 Ser. Let's follow the old Earle, and get the bedlam
To lead him where he would, his rogish madnesse
Allowes it selfe to any thing.

2 Ser. Goe thou, ile fetch some flaxe and whites of egges to apply to his bleeding face, now heauen helpe him. Exit.

Enter Edgar.

Edg. Yet better thus, and knowne to be contemn'd,
Then still contemn'd and flattered to be worst,
The lowest and most deiected thing of Fortune
Stands still in experience, liues not in feare,
The lamentable change is from the best,
The worst returnes to laughter,
Who's

Who's here, my father poorely led, world, world, ô world!
But that thy strange mutations make vs hate thee,
Life would not yeeld to age.

Enter Gloster led by an olde man.

Old man. O my good Lord, I haue bene your tenant, & your fathers tenant this fourescore———

Glost. Away, get thee away, good friend be gone,
Thy comforts can do me no good at all,
Thee they may hurt.

Old man. Alacke sir, you cannot see your way.

Glost. I haue no way, and therefore want no eies,
I stumbled when I saw, full oft tis seene
Our meanes secure vs, and our meere defects
Proone our commodities; ah deare sonne Edgar,
The food of thy abused fathers wrath,
Might I but liue to see thee in my tuch,
Id'e say I had eyes againe.

Old man. How now, who's there?

Edg. O Gods, who ist can say I am at the worst,
I am worse then ere I was.

Old man. Tis poore mad Tom.

Edg. And worse I may be yet, the worst is not,
As long as we can say, this is the worst.

Old man. Fellow where goest?

Glost. Is it a begger man?

Old man. Mad man, and begger too.

Glost. He has some reason, else he could not beg,
In the last nights storme I such a fellow saw,
Which made me thinke a man a worme, my sonne
Came then into my minde, and yet my minde
Was then scarse friends with him, I haue heard more since,
As flyes are to'th wanton boyes, are we to'th Gods,
They bit vs for their sport.

Edg. How should this be? bad is the trade that must play the foole to sorrow, angring it selfe and others; blesse thee master.

Glost. Is that the naked fellow?

Old man. I my Lord.
Glost. Then prethee get thee gone, if for my sake
Thou wilt ore-take vs here a mile or twaine.
Ith' way to Douer, do it for ancient loue,
And bring some couering for this naked soule,
Who ile entreate to lead me.
Old man. Alacke sir he is mad.
Glost. Tis the times plague, when madmen leade the blinde,
Do as I bid thee, or rather do thy pleasure,
Aboue the rest, be gone.
Old man. Ile bring him the best parrell that I haue,
Come on't what will.
Glo. Sirra, naked fellow.
Edg. Poore Toms a cold, I cannot dance it farther.
Glo. Come hither fellow.
Edg. Blesse thy sweete eyes, they bleed.
Glo. Knowst thou the way to Douer?
Edg. Both stile and gate, horse-way, and foot-path,
Poore Tom hath beene scard out of his good wits,
Blesse the good man from the foule fiend,
Fiue fiends haue beene in poore Tom at once,
Of lust, as Obidicut, Hobbididence Prince of dumbnesse,
Mahu of stealing, Modo of murder, Stiberdigebit of Mobing,
And Mohing who since possesses chambermaids
And waiting women, so, blesse thee master.
Glo. Here take this purse, thou whom the heauens plagues
Haue humbled to all strokes, that I am wretched, makes thee
The happier, heauens deale so still,
Let the superfluous and lust-dieted man
That stands your ordinance, that will not see
Because he doth not feele, feele your power quickly,
So distribution should vnder excesse,
And each man haue enough: dost thou know Douer?
Edg. I master.
Glo. There is a cliffe, whose high and bending head
Lookes firmely in the confined deepe,
Bring me but to the very brim of it,

And ile repaire the misery thou dost beare,
With something rich about me,
From that place shall I no leading need.
Edg. Giue me thy arme, poore Tom shall lead thee.

Enter Gonorill and Bastard.

Gon. Welcome my Lord, I maruaile our milde husband
Not met vs on the way: now, where's your Master?

Enter Steward.

Stew. Madame within, but neuer man so chang'd; I tolde him of the Army that was landed, he smiled at it, I told him you were coming, his answer was, the worse; of Glosters treachery, and of the loyall seruice of his sonne, when I enformd him, then he cald me for, and told me I had turnd the wrong side out, what hee should most desire, seemes pleasant to him, what like offensiue.
Gon. Then shall you go no further.
It is the cowish curre of his spirit
That dares not vndertake, heel not feele wrongs
Which tye him to an answer, our wishes on the way
May proue effects, backe Edmund to my brother,
Hasten his musters, and conduct his powers,
I must change armes at home, and giue the distaffe
Into my husbands hands; this trusty seruant
Shall passe betweene vs, ere long you are like to heare
If you dare venter in your owne behalfe
A mistresses coward, weare this spare speech,
Decline your head: this kisse if it durst speake,
Would stretch thy spirits vp into the ayre;
Conceiue, and farye well.
Bast. Yours in the rankes of death.
Gon. My most deare Gloster, to thee womans seruices are due,
My foote vsurpes my head.
Stew. Madame, heere comes my Lord.

Exit Steward.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Gon. I haue bene worth the whistle.

Enter the Duke of Albeney.

Alb. O Gonorill, you are not worth the dust which the winde
Blowes in your face, I feare your disposition,
That nature which contemnes it origin,
Cannot be bordered certaine in it selfe,
She that her selfe will sliuer and disbranch
From her materiall sap, perforce must wither,
And come to deadly vse.

Gon. No more, the text is foolish.

Alb. Wisedome and goodnesse to the vilde seeme vilde,
Filths sauour but themselues, what haue you done?
Tygers, not daughters, what haue you perform'd?
A father, and a gracious aged man,
Whose reuerence the head-lugd Beare would licke;
Most barbarous, most degenerate haue you madded;
Could my good brother suffer you to do it?
A man, a Prince, by him so benefliсted,
If that the heauens do not their visible spirits
Send quickly downe to tame the vilde offences, it will come
Humanly must perforce prey on it selfe, like monsters of the deepe.

Gon. Milke liuer'd man,
That bearest a cheeke for blowes, a head for wrongs,
Who hast not in thy browes an eie deseruing thine honour,
From thy suffering, that not know'st fooles, do these villains pity
Who are punisht ere they haue done their mischiefe,
Where's thy drum? France spreds his banners in our noiseleſſe
Land, with plumed helme thy slaier begins threats,
Whiles thou a morall foole, sits still and cries
Alacke, why does he so?

Alb. See thy selfe diuell, proper deformity seemes not in the fiend, so horrid as in woman.

Gon. O vaine foole.

Alb. Thou chang'd and selfe-couerd thing, for shame
Be-monster not thy feature, wer't my fitnesse

To let these hands obey my bloud,
They are apt enough to dislocate and teare
Thy flesh and bones, how ere thou art a fiend,
A womans shape doth shield thee.

Gon. Marry your man-hood now———

Enter a Gentleman.

Alb. What newes?

Gent. O my good Lord, the Duke of Cornwalls dead, slaine by his seruant, going to put out the other eie of Gloster.

Alb. Glosters eyes?

Gen. A seruant that he bred, thrald with remorse,
Oppos'd against the acte, bending his sword
To his great master, who thereat enraged,
Flew on him, and amongst them feld him dead,
But not without that harmfull stroke,
Which since hath pluckt him after.

Alb. This shewes you are aboue your Iustices,
That these our neather crimes so speedily can venge.
But oh poore Gloceſter, lost he his other eye?

Gent. Both, both my Lord, this letter Madam craues a speedy
Answer, tis from your sister.

Gon. One way I like this well,
But being widow, and my Gloceſter with her,
May all the building on my fancy plucke,
Vpon my hatefull life, another way the newes is not so tooke,
Ile reade and answer. Exit.

Alb. Where was his sonne when they did take his eies?

Gent. Come with my Lady hither.

Alb. He is not here.

Gent. No my good Lord, I met him backe againe.

Alb Knowes he the wickednesse?

Gent. I my good Lord, twas he inform'd against him,
And quit the house on purpose, that their punishment
Might haue the freer course.

Alb. Gloceſter, I liue to thanke thee for the loue
Thou shewedst the King, and to reuenge thy eyes;

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Come hether friend, tell me what more thou knoweſt.

Exit.

Enter Kent and a Gentleman.

Kent. Why the King of France is ſo ſuddenly gone backe,
Know you the reaſon?

Gent. Something he left imperfect in the ſtate, which ſince his comming foorth is thought of, which imports to the Kingdom, ſo much feare and danger that his perſonall returne was moſt required and neceſſary.

Kent. Who hath he left behinde him, Generall?

Gent. The Marſhall of France, Mounſieur la Far.

Kent. Did your letters pierce the Queene to any demonſtration of griefe?

Gent. I ſay ſhe tooke them, read them in my preſence,
And now and then an ample teare trild downe
Her delicate cheeke, it ſeemd ſhe was a Queene ore her paſſion,
Who moſt rebell-like, ſought to be King ore her.

Kent. O then it moued her.

Gent. Not to a rage, patience and ſorrow ſtreme,
Who ſhould expreſſe her goodlieſt, you haue ſeene
Sun-ſhine and raine at once, her ſmiles and teares,
Were like a better way, thoſe happy ſmilets
That plaid on her ripe lip, ſeeme not to know
What gueſts were in her eyes, which parted thence
As pearles from Diamonds dropt; in briefe,
Sorrow would be a rarity moſt beloued,
If all could ſo become it.

Kent. Made ſhe no verball queſtion?

Gent. Faith once or twice ſhe heau'd the name of father
Pantingly foorth, as if it preſt her heart,
Cried ſiſters, ſiſters, ſhame of Ladies ſiſters;
Kent. Father, ſiſters, what ith ſtorme ith night?
Let pitty not be beleeu'd, there ſhe ſhooke
The holy water from her heauenly eyes,
And clamour moiſtened her, then away ſhe ſtarted,
To deale with griefe alone.

Kent, It is the ſtars, the ſtars aboue vs gouern our conditions,
Elſe

Elſe one ſelfe mate and mate could not beget
Such different iſſues; you ſpoke not with her ſince?

Gent. No.

Kent. Was this before the King returnd?

Gent. No, ſince.

Kent. Well ſir, the poore diſtreſſed Lear's ith Towne,
Who ſometime in his better tune remembers
What we are come about, and by no meanes will yeeld to ſee his daughter.

Gent. Why good ſir?

Kent. A ſoueraigne ſhame ſo elbowes him, his own vnkindnes
That ſtript her from his benediction, turnd her
To forraine caſualties, gaue her deare rights
To his dog-hearted daughters; theſe things ſting his minde
So venomouſly, that burning ſhame detaines him from Cordelia.

Gent. Alacke poore Gentleman.

Kent. Of Albanies and Cornwals powers you heard not?

Gent. Tis ſo they are afoote.

Kent. Well ſir, ile bring you to our maſter Lear,
And leaue you to attend him, ſome deare cauſe
VVill in concealement wrap me vp a while,
VVhen I am knowne aright you ſhall not greeue,
Lending me this acquaintance, I pray you go along with me.

Exit.

Enter Cordelia, Doctor, and others.

Cor. Alacke tis he, why he was met euen now,
As mad as the vent ſea, ſinging aloud,
Crownd with ranke femiter and furrow weeds,
VVith hor-docks, hemlocke, nettles, cockow-flowers,
Darnell and all the idle weeds that grow
In our ſuſtaining Corne, a century is ſent foorth,
Search euery acre in the high growne field,
And bring him to our eye, what can mans wiſedome do
In the reſtoring his bereaued ſence? he that can helpe him
Take all my outward worth.

That wants the meanes to leade it.

Enter a Meſſenger.

Meſſen. Newes Madam, the Britiſh powers are marching hetherward.
Cord. Tis knowne before, our preparation ſtands
In expectation of them, ô deare Father,
It is thy buſineſſe that I go about, therefore great France,
My mourning and important teares hath pittied,
No blowne ambition doth our armes inſite,
But loue, deare loue, and our aged fathers right,
Soone may I heare and ſee him. Exit.

Enter Regan and Steward.

Reg. But are my brothers powers ſet foorth?
Stew. I Madam.
Reg. Himſelfe in perſon?
Stew. Madam with much ado, your ſiſter's the better Soldier.
Reg. Lord Edmund ſpake not with your Lady at home?
Stew. No Madam.
Reg. What might import my ſiſters letter to him?
Stew. I know not Lady.
Reg. Faith he is poſted hence on a ſerious matter,
It was great ignorance, Gloceſters eies being out,
To let him liue, where he arriues he moues
All hearts againſt vs, and now I thinke is gone,
In pitty of his miſery to diſpatch his nighted life,
Moreouer to deſcrie the ſtrength of the Army.
Stew. I muſt needs after him with my Letters.
Reg. Our troope ſets foorth to morrow, ſtay with vs,

The wayes are dangerous.
Stew. I may not Madam, my Lady charg'd my dutie in this buſineſſe.
Reg. Why ſhould ſhe write to Edmund? Might not you
Tranſport her purpoſes by word, belike
Something, I know not what, Ile loue thee much,
Let me vnſeale the Letter.
Stew. Madam Ide rather———
Reg. I know your Lady does not loue her husband,
I am ſure of that: and at her late being heere
She gaue ſtrange aliads, and moſt ſpeaking lookes
To Noble Edmund, I know you are of her boſome.
Stew. I Madam.
Reg. I ſpeake in vnderſtanding, for I know't,
Therefore I do aduiſe you take this note:
My Lord is dead, Edmund and I haue talkt,
And more conuenient is he for my hand,
Then for your Ladies: you may gather more,
If you do finde him, pray you giue him this,
And when your miſtris heares thus much from you,
I pray deſire her call her wiſedome to her, ſo farewell,
If you do chance to heare of that blinde traitor,
Preferment fals on him that cuts him off.
Stew. Would I could meet him Madam, I would ſhew
What Lady I do follow.
Reg. Fare thee well. Exit.

Enter Gloſter and Edmund.

Glo. When ſhall we come to'th top of that ſame hill?
Edg. You do climbe it vp now, looke how we labour?
Glo. Me thinkes the ground is euen.
Edg. Horrible ſteepe: hearke, do you heare the ſea?
Glo. No truly.
Edg. Why then your other ſenſes grow imperfect
By your eies anguiſh.
Glo. So may it be indeed,
Methinkes thy voice is altered, and thou ſpeakſt

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

With better phraſe and matter then thou didſt.
Edg. Y'are much deceiued, in nothing am I changd,
But in my garments.
Glo. Me thinkes y'are better ſpoken.
Edg. Come on ſir, here's the place, ſtand ſtill, how fearfull
And dizy tis to caſt ones eyes ſo low:
The Crowes and Choughes that wing the midway ayre
Shew ſcarſe ſo groſſe as beetles, halfe way downe
Hangs one that gathers Sampire, dreadfull trade,
Me thinkes he ſeemes no bigger then his head:
The fiſhermen that walke vpon the beake
Appeare like Mice; and yon tall Anchoring barke
Diminiſht to her cocke; her cocke aboue
Almoſt too ſmall for ſight. The murmuring ſurge,
That on the vnnumbred idle peebles chafe,
Cannot be heard: it is ſo hie Ile looke no more
Leaſt my braine turne, and the deficient ſight
Topple downe headlong.
Glo. Set me where you ſtand.
Edg. Giue me your hand: you are now within a foot
Of the extreme verge; for all beneath the Moone
Would I not leape vpright.
Glo. Let go my hand:
Heere friend's another purſe, in it a Iewell
Well worth a poore mans taking. Fairies and Gods
Proſper it with thee: go thou farther off,
Bid me farewell, and let me heare thee going.
Edg. Now fare you well good ſir.
Glo. With all my heart.
Edg. Why I do trifle thus with his diſpaire, tis done to cure it.
Glo. O you mighty Gods, He kneels
This world I do renounce, and in your ſights
Shake patiently my great affliction off,
If I could beare it longer, and not fall
To quarrell with your great oppoſeleſſe wils,
My ſnuffe and loathed part of nature ſhould
Burne it ſelfe out: if Edgar liue, O bleſſe,

Now

Now fellow fare thee well. He falles
Edg. Gon ſir, farewell, and yet I know not how conceite may rob the treaſury of life, when life it ſelfe yeelds to the theft: had he bene where he thought, by this thought had bene paſt: Aliue or dead? Ho you ſir, heare you ſir, ſpeake, thus might hee paſſe indeed, yet he reuiues, what are you ſir?
Glo. Away, and let me dye.
Edg. Hadſt thou bene oughtbut goſmore feathers ayre,
So many fadome downe precipitating,
Thou hadſt ſhiuerd like an Egge, but thou doſt breath,
Haſt heauy ſubſtance, bleedſt not, ſpeakſt, art ſound:
Ten Maſts at each make not the altitude,
Which thou haſt perpendicularly fell,
Thy lifes a miracle, ſpeake yet againe.
Glo. But haue I fallen or no?
Edg. From the dread ſummons of this chalkie borne,
Looke vp a hight; the ſhrill gorg'd Larke ſo farre
Cannot be ſeene or heard, do but looke vp.
Glo. Alacke, I haue no eyes:
Is wretchedneſſe depriu'd that benefite
To end it ſelfe by death? Twas yet ſome comfort,
cc When miſery could beguile the Tyrants rage,
And fruſtrate his proud will.
Edg. Giue me your arme:
Vp, ſo, how feele you your legges? you ſtand.
Glo. Too well, too well.
Edg. This is aboue all ſtrangeneſſe:
Vpon the crowne of the cliffe, what thing was that
Which parted from you?
Glo. A poore vnfortunate begger.
Edg. As I ſtood heere below, methought his eyes
Were two full Moones; a had a thouſand noſes,
Hornes, welkt and waued like the enridged ſea.
It was ſome fiend, therefore thou happy Father
Thinke that the cleereſt Gods, who made their honors
Of mens impoſſibilities, haue preſerued thee.
Glo. I do remember now, henceforth Ile beare

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Affliction till it do cry out it selfe
Enough, enough, and dye: that thing you speake of,
I tooke it for a man: often would he say
The fiend, the fiend, he led me to that place.

Edg. Bare, free, and patient thoughts: but who comes heere,
The safer sense will nere accommodate his maister thus.

Enter Lear mad.

Lear. No, they cannot touch me for coyning, I am the King himselfe.

Edg. O thou side piercing sight.

Lear. Nature is aboue Art in that respect, ther's your presse-money. That fellow handles his bow like a Crow-keeper, draw me a clothiers yard. Looke, looke, a Mouse; peace, peace, this tosted cheese will do it. Ther's my gantlet, Ile proue it on a Gyant, bring vp the browne bils. O well flowne birde in the ayre. Hagh, giue the word.

Edg. Sweet Margerum.

Lear. Passe,

Glo. I know that voice.

Lear. Ha Gonorill, ha Regan, they flatter'd me like a dogge, and told me I had white haires in my beard, ere the black ones were there; to say I and no to all I saide: I and no too was no good Diuinity. When the raine came to wet me once, and the wind to make me chatter, when the thunder would not peace at my bidding, there I found them, there I smelt them out: goe too, they are not men of their words, they told mee I was euery thing, tis a lye, I am not argue-proofe.

Glost. The tricke of that voyce I doe, well remember, ist not the King?

Lear I, euery inch a King: when I do stare see how the subiect quakes: I pardon that mans life, what was thy cause, Adulterie? thou shalt not dye for adultery: no, the wren goes toot, and the small guilded flye do letcher in my sight; let copulation thriue. For Glosters bastard son was kinder to his father then my daughters got tweene the lawfull sheets, toot Luxury, pell mell, for I want souldiers. Behold yon simpring dame, whose face between her her forkes presageth snow, that minces vertue, and do shake the head, heare of pleasures name to fichew, nor the soyled Horsse goes toot with a more riotous appetite: downe from the waste they are Centaures, though women all aboue, but to the girdle do the gods inherit, beneath is all the fiends, theres Hell, theres darkenesse, theres the sulphury pit, burning, scalding, stench, consummation, fie, fie, fie, pah, pah: Giue mee an ounce of Ciuet, good Apothecary, to sweeten my imagination, ther's money for thee.

Glo. O let me kisse that hand.

Lear. Here wipe it first, it smels of mortality.

Glo. O ruin'd peece of nature, this great world shold so weare out to naught, do you know me?

Lear. I remember thy eyes well enough, dost thou squiny on me: no, do thy worst blinde Cupid, Ile not loue: Read thou that challenge, marke the penning on't.

Glo. Were all the letters suns I could not see one.

Edg. I would not take this from report, it is, & my hart breaks at it.

Lear. Read.

Glo. What, with the case of eyes.

Lear. O ho, are you there with me? No eyes in your head nor money in your purse? your eyes are in a heauy case, your purse in a light; yet you see how this world goes?

Glo. I see it feelingly.

Lear. What art mad? A man may see how the world goes with no eyes. Looke with thy eares, see how yon Iustice railes vppon yon simple theefe: hearke in thy eare, handy dandy, which is the theefe, which is the Iustice. Thou hast seene a farmers dog barke at a begger.

Glo. I sir.

Lear. And the creature run from the cur? There thou might'st behold the great image of Authoritie, a dogge, so bad in office. Thou Rascall Beadle hold thy bloody hand; why dost thou lash that whore? strip thine owne backe, thy blood hotly lusts to vse her in that kind for which thou whipst her. The vsurer hangs the cozener, through tattered ragges small vices do appeare, Robes and furd-gownes hides all. Get thee glaſſe eyes, and like a ſcuruy politician, ſeeme to ſee the things thou doeſt not; No, now pull off my boots, harder, harder, ſo.

Edg. O matter and impertinency, mixt reaſon in madneſſe.

Lear. If thou wilt weepe my fortune, take my eyes; I know thee well enough, thy name is Gloſter, thou muſt be patient, we came crying hither: thou knowſt the firſt time that we ſmel the aire, we waile and cry. I will preach to thee, marke me.

Glo. Alack, alack, the day.

Lear. When we are borne, we crie that wee are come to this great ſtage of fooles: this a good blocke. It were a delicate ſtratagem to ſhoot a troope of horſe with fell, and when I haue ſtole vpon theſe ſonnes in law, then kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill.

Enter three Gentlemen.

Gent. O here he is, lay hands vpon him ſirs.

Lear. No reſcue, what a priſoner? I am eene the naturall foole of Fortune: vſe me well, you ſhall haue a ranſom. Let me haue a Chirurgeon, I am cut to'th braines.

Gent. You ſhall haue any thing.

Lear. No ſeconds, all my ſelfe: why this would make a man of ſalt to vſe his eyes for garden water-pottes. I and laying Autumnes duſt. Gent. Good Sir.

Lear. I will dye brauely like a Bridegroome. What, I will bee iouiall: Come, come, I am a King my maſters, know you that?

Gent. You are a royall one, and we obey you.

Lear. Then theres life int, nay if you get it you ſhall get it with running. Exit King running.

Gent. A ſight moſt pittifull in the meaneſt wretch, paſt ſpeaking of in a king: thou haſt one daughter who redeemes nature from the generall curſe which twaine hath brought her to.

Edg. Haile gentle ſir.

Gent. Sir ſpeed you, what's your will?

Edg. Do you heare ought of a battell toward?

Gent. Moſt ſure and vulgar, euery ones heares
That can diſtinguiſh ſenſe.

Edg. But by your fauour, how neeres the other army?

Gent.

Gent. Neere and on ſpeed for't, the maine deſcries,
Stands on the hourely thoughts.

Edg. I thanke you ſir, thats all.

Gent. Though that the Queene on ſpeciall cauſe is heere,
His army is mou'd on. Exit

Edg. I thanke you ſir.

Glo. You euer gentle gods take my breath from me,
Let not my worſer ſpirit tempt me againe,
To dye before you pleaſe.

Edg. Well pray you father.

Glo. Now good ſir what are you.

Edg. A moſt poore man, made lame by fortunes blowes,
Who by the Art of knowne and feeling ſorrowes
Am pregnant to good pitty. Giue me your hand,
Ile leade you to ſome biding.

Gloſt. Hearty thankes, the bounty and the benizon of heauen to boot, to boot.

Enter Steward.

Stew. A proclaim'd prize, moſt happy; that eyles head of thine was firſt framed fleſh to raiſe my fortunes. Thou moſt vnhappy Traitor, briefely thy ſelfe remember, the ſword is out that muſt deſtroy thee.

Glo. Now let thy friendly hand put ſtrength enough to't.

Stew. Wherefore bolde pezant darſt thou ſupport a publiſht traytor, hence leaſt the infection of his fortune take like hold on thee, let go his arme.

Edg. Chill not let go ſir without cagion.

Stew. Let go ſlaue, or thou dieſt.

Edg. Good Gentleman goe your gate, let poore volke paſſe: and chud haue beene zwaggar'd out of my life, it would not haue bene zo long by a vortnight: nay come not neere the olde man, keepe out chuore ye, or ile try whether your coſtard or my bat be the harder, chill be plaine with you. They fight.

Stew. Out dunghill.

Edg. Chil pick your teeth zir, come no matter for your foines.

Stew.

Stew. Slaue thou haſt ſlaine me, Villaine take my purſe:
If euer thou wilt thriue, bury my body,
And giue the Letters which thou findſt about me
To Edmund Earle of Gloſter, ſeeke him out, vpon
The Britiſh party: ô vntimely death! death.

He dyes.

Edg. I know thee well, a ſeruiceable villaine,
As dutious to the vices of thy Miſtris,
As badneſſe would deſire.

Glo. What is he dead?

Edg. Sit you downe father, reſt you, lets ſee his pockets,
Theſe Letters that he ſpeakes of may be my friends,
Hee's dead, I am onely ſorry he had no other deathſman.
Let vs ſee, leaue gentle wax, and manners blame vs not,
To know our enemies minds wee'd rip their hearts,
Their papers is more lawfull.

A Letter.

Let your reciprocall vowes be remembred.
You haue many opportunities to cut him off.
If your will want not, time and place will be fruitfully offered.
There is nothing done: If he returne the Conqueror,
Then am I the priſoner, and his bed my Iayle,
From the loath'd warmth whereof deliuer me,
And ſupply the place for your labour.

Your wife (ſo I would ſay) & your affectionate ſeruant,
Gonerill.

Edg. O vndiſtinguiſht ſpace of womans wit,
A plot vpon her vertuous husbands life,
And the exchange my Brother: heere in the ſands
Thee Ile rake vp, the poſt vnſanctified
Of murtherous letchers, and in the mature time
With this vngracious paper ſtrike the ſight
Of the death practiſd Duke, for him tis well,
That of his death and buſineſſe I can tell.

Glo. The King is mad, how ſtiffe is my vilde ſenſe,
That I ſtand vp, and haue ingenious feeling

Of

Of my huge ſorrowes, better I were diſtract,
So ſhould my thoughts be fenced from my greefes,
And woes by wrong imaginations, loſe
The knowledge of themſelues.

A Drumme afarre off.

Edg. Giue me your hand:
Farre off methinkes I heare the beaten drum.
Come Father Ile beſtow you with a friend. Exit

Enter Cordelia, Kent, and Doctor.

Cor. O thou good Kent,
How ſhall I liue and worke to match thy goodneſſe,
My life will be too ſhort, and euery meaſure faile me.

Kent. To be acknowledg'd Madam is ore-paid,
All my reports go with the modeſt truth,
Nor more, nor clipt, but ſo.

Cor. Be better ſuited,
Theſe weeds are memories of thoſe worſer houres,
I prethee put them off.

Kent. Pardon me deere Madam,
Yet to be knowne ſhortens my made intent,
My boone I make it that you know me not,
Till time and I thinke meet.

Cor. Then be it ſo: my Lord how does the king.

Doct. Madam ſleepes ſtill.

Cor. O you kinde Gods,
Cure this great breach in his abuſed nature,
The vntun'd and hurrying ſenſes, O winde vp,
Of this childe-changed Father.

Doct. So pleaſe your Maieſty we may wake the King
He hath ſlept long.

Cor. Be gouern'd by your knowledge, and proceede
Ith ſway of your owne will: is he array'd?

Doct. I Madam, in the heauineſſe of his ſleepe,
We put freſh garments on him.

Kent. Good Madam be by when we do awake him,
I doubt not of his temperance.

Cor.

Cor. Very well.

Doct. Please you draw neere: louder the musicke there.

Cor. O my deere father,
Restoration hang thy medicine on my lippes,
And let this kisse repaire those violent harmes
That my two sisters haue in thy reuerence made.

Kent. Kinde and deere Princesse.

Cor. Had you not bin their father, these white flakes
Had challeng'd pitty of them. Was this a face
To be expos'd against the warring windes,
To stand against the deepe dread bolted thunder,
In the most terrible and nimble stroke
Of quicke cross lightning, to watch poore Perdu,
With this thin helme? Mine iniurious dogge,
Though he had bit me, should haue stood that night
Against my fire, and wast thou faine (poore father)
To houill thee with swine and rogues forlorne,
In short and musty straw? Alack, alacke,
Tis wonder that thy life and wits at once,
Had not concluded all. He wakes, speake to him.

Doct. Madam do you, tis fittest.

C. How does my royal lord? how fares your maiesty

Lear. You do me wrong to take me out a'th graue,
Thou art a soule in bliss, but I am bound
Vpon a wheele of fire, that mine owne teares
Do scald like molten Lead.

Cor. Sir, know ye me?

Lear. Y'are a spirit I know, when did you dye?

Cor. Still, still, farre wide.

Doct. He's scarse awake, let him alone awhile.

Lea. Where haue I bin? where am I? faire day light!
I am mightily abus'd; I should eie dye with pity
To see another thus. I know not what to say:
I will not sweare these are my hands, let's see,
I feele this pin pricke, would I were assur'd of my con-
Cor. O looke vpon me sir, (dition,
And hold your hands in benediction ore me,

No

No sir, you must not kneele.

Lear. Pray do not mocke me:
I am a very foolish fond olde man,
Fourescore and vpward, and to deale plainly,
I feare I am not perfect in my minde.
Me thinkes I should know you, and know this man,
Yet I am doubtfull: for I am mainly ignorant
What place this is, and all the skill I haue
Remembers not these garments: nor I know not
Where I did lodge last night. Do no laugh at me,
For (as I am a man) I thinke this Lady
To be my childe Cordelia.

Cor. And so I am.

Lear. Be your teares wet? Yes faith: I pray weepe not,
If you haue poison for me I will drinke it:
I know you do not loue me, for your sisters
Haue (as I do remember) done me wrong,
You haue some cause, they haue not.

Cor. No cause, no cause.

Lear. Am I in France?

Kent. In your owne kingdome sir.

Lear. Do not abuse me.

Doct. Be comforted good Madame, the great rage you see is cured in him, and yet it is danger to make him euen ore the time hee has lost; desire him to goe in, trouble him no more till further setling.

Cor. Wilt please your Highnesse walke?

Lear. You must beare with me:
Pray now forget and forgiue,
I am olde and foolish. Exeunt.

Manet Kent and Gentleman.

Gen. Holds it true sir that the Duke of Cornwall was so slaine?

Kent. Most certaine sir.

Gent. Who is conductor of his people?

Kent. As tis said, the bastard sonne of Gloster.

Gent. They say Edgar his banisht sonne, is with the Earle of

Kent in Germany.

Kent. Report is changeable, tis time to looke about,
The powers of the kingdome approch apace.
Gent. The arbitrement is like to be bloody, fare you well sir.
Kent. My point and period will be throughly wrought,
Or well, or ill, as this dayes battels fought.

Enter Edmund, Regan, and their powers.

Bast. Know of the Duke if his last purpose holde,
Or whether since he is aduisd by ought
To change the course, he is full of alteration
And selfe-reprouing, bring his constant pleasure.
Reg. Our sisters man is certainly miscarried.
Bast. Tis to be doubted Madam.
Reg. Now sweet Lord,
You know the goodnesse I intend vpon you:
Tell me truly, but then speake the truth,
Do you not loue my sister?
Bast. I honor'd loue.
Reg. But haue you neuer found my brothers way,
To the forefended place?
Bast. That thought abuses you.
Reg. I am doubtfull that you haue beene coniunct
And bosom'd with her, as farre as we call hers.
Bast. No by mine honor Madam.
Reg. I neuer shall endure her,
Deere my Lord be not familiar with her.
Bast. Feare me not, she and the Duke her husband.

Enter Albany and Gonorill with troopes.

Gon. I had rather loose the battell
Then that sister should loosen him and me.
Alb. Our very louing sister well be-met,
For this I heare the King is come to his daughter
With others, whom the rigour of our State
Forc'd to cry out. Where I could not be honest
I neuer yet was valiant: for this businesse

It toucheth vs, as France inuades our land
Not bolds the king, with others whom I feare,
Most iust and heauy causes make oppose.
Bast. Sir you speake nobly.
Regan. Why is this reason'd?
Gon. Combine together gainst the enemy,
For these domesticke doore particulars,
Are not to question heere.
Alb. Let vs then determine
With the Ancient of warre on our proceedings.
Bast. I shall attend you presently at your Tent.
Reg. Sister youle go with vs?
Gon. No.
Reg. Tis most conuenient, pray you go with vs.
Gon. O ho, I know the Riddle, I will go. Exit

Enter Edgar.

Edg. If ere your Grace had speech with one so poore,
Heare me one word.
Alb. Ile ouertake you, speake.
Edg. Before you fight the battell, ope this Letter,
If you haue victory let the trumpet sounde
For him that brought it, wretched though I seeme,
I can produce a Champion, that will prooue
What is auouched there. If you miscarry,
Your businesse of the world hath so an end,
Fortune loue you.
Alb. Stay till I haue read the letter.
Edg. I was forbid it,
When time shall serue let but the Herald cry,
And Ile appeare againe. Exit
Alb. Why fare thee well, I will looke ore the paper.

Enter Edmund.

Bast. The enemy's in view, draw vp your powers,
Hard is the guesse of their great strength and forces
By diligẽt discouery, but your hast is now vrgd on you.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Alb. We will greet the time.
Bast. To both these sisters haue I sworne my loue,
Each iealous of the other, as the sting are of the Adder,
Which of them shall I take, both one
Or neither; neither can be enioy'd
If both remaine aliue: to take the Widdow,
Exasperates, makes mad her sister Gonorill,
And hardly shall I carry out my side
Her husband being aliue. Now then wee'l vse
His countenance for the battell, which being done
Let her that would be rid of him deuise
His speedy taking off: as for his mercie
Which he extends to Lear and to Cordelia,
The battell done, and they within our power,
Shall neuer see his pardon: for my state
Stands on me to defend, not to debate. Exit

Alarum. Enter the powers of France ouer the stage, Cordelia with her Father in her hand.

Enter Edgar and Gloster.

Edg. Heere Father, take the shadow of this bush
For your good hoast: pray that the right may thriue.
If euer I returne to you againe,
Ile bring you comfort. Exit
Glo. Grace go with you sir.
Alarum and retreat. Enter Edgar.
Edg. Away olde man, giue me thy hand, away,
King Lear hath lost, he and his daughter tane:
Giue me thy hand, come on.
Glo. No farther sir, a man may rot euen heere.
Edg. What in ill thoughts agen? Men must endure,
Their going hence, euen as their comming hither,
Ripenesse is all come on. Exit.
Enter Edmund, with Lear and Cordelia prisoners.
Bast. Some officers take them away, good guard,
Vntill their greater pleasures best be knowne
That

That are to censure them.
Cor. We are not the first,
Who with best meaning haue incurr'd the worst:
For thee oppressed King am I cast downe,
My selfe could else out-frowne false fortunes frowne.
Shall we not see these daughters, and these sisters?
Lear. No, no, come let's away to prison,
We two alone will sing like birds i'th cage:
When thou dost aske me blessing, Ile kneele downe
And aske of thee forgiuenesse: so weell liue,
And pray, and tell old tales, and laugh
At gilded Butterflies, and heare poore Rogues
Talke of Court newes, and weel talke with them too,
Who looses, and who wins; whose in, whose out;
And take vpon's the mystery of things,
As if we were Gods spies: and weel weare out
In a walld prison, packes and sects of great ones,
That ebbe and flow by the Moone.
Bast. Take them away.
Lear. Vpon such sacrifices my Cordelia:
The gods themselues throw incense. Haue I caught thee?
He that parts vs shall bring a brand from heauen,
And fire vs hence like Foxes, wipe thine eyes,
The good shall deuoure em, flesh and fell,
Ere they shall make vs weepe? Weele see em starue first. Exit
Bast. Come hither Captaine, hearke.
Take thou this note, go follow them to prison,
One step I haue aduanc't thee, if thou dost as this instructs thee,
Thou dost make thy way to Noble fortunes:
Know thou this, that men are as the time is;
To be tender minded does not become a sword,
Thy great employment will not beare question,
Either say thou't do't, or thriue by other meanes.
Cap. Ile doot my Lord.
Bast. About it, and write happy when thou hast done,
Marke I say instantly, and carry it so
As I haue set it downe.

Cap

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Cap. I cannot draw a Cart, nor eate dryed oates,
If it be mans worke, Ile doo't.

Enter the Duke, the two Ladies, and others.

Alb. Sir you haue shewne to day your valiant straine,
And Fortune led you well: you haue the Captiues
That were the opposites of this dayes strife:
We do require them of you so to vse them,
As we shall finde their merits, and our safety
May equally determine.
Bast. Sir I thought it fit,
To send the olde and miserable King
To some retention, and appointed guard,
Whose age has charmes in it, whose Title more,
To plucke the common bosse from his side,
And turne our impresse Launces in our eyes
Which do command them. With him I sent the Queene:
My reason all the same, and they are ready to morrow,
Or at a further space, to appeare where you shall hold
Your Session at this time: we sweate and bleed,
The friend hath lost his friend, and the best quarrels
In the heate are curst by those that feele their sharpenesse.
The question of Cordelia and her father
Requires a fitter place,
Alb. Sir by your patience,
I hold you but a subiect of this warre, not as a brother.
Reg. That's as we list to grace him.
Methinkes our pleasure should haue beene demanded
Ere you had spoke so farre. He led our powers,
Bore the Commission of my place and person,
The which immediate may well stand vp,
And call it selfe your brother.
Gon. Not so hot: in his owne grace he doth exalt himselfe,
More then in your aduancement.
Reg. In my right by me inuested, he compeers the best.
Gon. That were the most, if he should husband you.
Reg. Iesters do oft proue Prophets.

Gonor.

Gon. Hola, hola, that eye that told you so, lookt but a squint.
Reg. Lady I am not well, else I should answer
From a full flowing stomacke. Generall,
Take thou my soldiers, prisoners, patrimony,
Witnesse the world, that I create thee heere
My Lord and master.
Gon. Meane you to enioy him then?
Alb. The let alone lies not in your good will.
Bast. Nor in thine Lord.
Alb. Halfe blooded fellow, yes.
Bast. Let the drum strike, and proue my title good.
Alb. Stay yet, heare reason: Edmund, I arrest thee
On capitall treason; and in thine attaint,
This gilded Serpent: for your claime faire sister,
I bare it in the interest of my wife,
Tis she is subcontracted to her Lord,
And I her husband contradict the banes.
If you will marry, make your loue to me,
My Lady is bespoke. Thou art arm'd Gloster,
If none appeare to proue vpon thy head,
Thy hainous, manifest, and many treasons,
There is my pledge, Ile proue it on thy heart
Ere I taste bread, thou art in nothing lesse
Then I haue heere proclaim'd thee.
Reg. Sicke, o sicke.
Gon. If not, Ile nere trust poyson.
Bast. Ther's my exchange, what in the world he is,
That names me traitor, villain-like he lyes,
Call by thy Trumpet, he that dares approach
On him, on you, who not, I will maintaine
My truth and honor firmely.
Alb. A Herald ho.
Bast. A herald ho, a herald.
Alb. Trust to thy single vertue, for thy soldiers
All leuied in my name, haue in my name tooke their discharge.
Reg. This sickneſſe growes vpon me.
Alb. She is not well, conuey her to my tent,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Come hither Herald, let the Trumpet sound, and read out this.

Cap. Sound Trumper.

Her. If any man of quality or degree, in the hoast of the Army, will maintaine vpon Edmund, supposed Earle of Gloceſter, that he's a manifold traitor, let him appeare at the thirde sound of the Trumpet: he is bold in his defence.

Baſt. Sound. Againe.

Enter Edgar at the third sound, with a trumpet before him.

Alb. Aske him his purposes, why he appeares
Vpon this call o'th trumpet?

Her. What are you? your name and quality?
And why you answer this present summons?

Edg. O know my name is lost by Treasons tooth:
Bare-gnawne and canker-bit,
Where is the aduersary I come to cope with all?

Alb. What is that aduersary?

Edg. What's he that speakes for Edmund Earle of Gloster?

Baſt. Himselfe, what sayst thou to him?

Edg. Draw thy sword,
That if my speech offend a noble heart, thy arme
May do thee iustice, heere is mine:
Behold it is the priuiledge of my tongue,
My oath and profession. I protest,
Maugre thy strength, youth, place and eminence,
Despight thy victor, sword, and fire new fortun'd,
Thy valor, and thy heart, thou art a traitor:
False to the gods, thy brother, and thy father,
Conspicuate gainst this high illustrious Prince,
And from th'extremest vpward of thy head,
To the descent and dust beneath thy feet,
A most toad-spotted traitor: say thou no,
This sword, this arme, and my best spirits,
Is bent to proue vpon thy heart, whereto I speake thou lyest.

Baſt. In wisedome I should aske thy name,
But since thy outside lookes so faire and warlike,
And that thy being some say of breeding breathes,
By right of knight-hood I disdaine and spurne,

With

With the hell hatedly ore-turn'd thy heart,
Which for they yet glance by, and scarsely bruise,
This sword of mine shall giue them instant way,
Where they shall rest for euer, Trumpets speake.

Alb. Saue him, saue him.

Gon. This is meere practise Gloster, by the law of Armes
Thou art not bound to offer an vnknowne opposite,
Thou art not vanquisht, but cousned and beguild.

Alb. Stop your mouth Dame, or with this paper shall I stop it: thou worse then any thing, reade thine owne euill. Nay, no tearing Lady, I perceiue you know't.

Gon. Say if I do, the lawes are mine not thine, who shal araign me for it.

Alb. Monster, knowst thou this paper?

Gon. Aske me not what I know. Exit Gonorill.

Alb. Go after her, she's desperate, gouerne her.

Baſt. What you haue charg'd me with, that haue I done,
And more, much more, the time will bring it out.
Tis past, and so am I: but what art thou that hast this fortune on me? If thou beest noble, I do forgiue thee.

Edg. Let's exchange charity,
I am no lesse in blood then thou art Edmund,
If more, the more thou hast wrongd me.
My name is Edgar, and thy fathers sonne,
The Gods are iust, and of our pleasant vertues
Make instruments to scourge vs: the darke and vitious place
Where he thee got, cost him his eyes.

Baſt. Thou hast spoken truth,
The wheele is come full circkled, I am heere.

Alb. Me thought thy very gate did propheſie
A royall nobleneſſe, I must embrace thee,
Let sorow split my heart if I did euer hate thee or thy father.

Edg. Worthy Prince I know it.

Alb. Where haue you hid your selfe?
How haue you knowne the miseries of your father?

Edg. By nursing them my Lord,
List a breefe tale, and when tis told,

O that my heart would burſt. The bloody proclamation
To eſcape that followed me ſo neere,
(O our liues ſweetneſſe, that with the paine of death VVould hourely dye, rather then dye at once)
Taught me to ſhift into a mad-mans rags,
To aſſume a ſemblance that very dogges diſdain'd:
And in this habit met I my father with his bleeding rings,
The precious ſtones new loſt; Became his guide,
Led him, begd for him, ſau'd him from diſpaire.
Neuer (O Father) reueald my ſelfe vnto him,
Vntill ſome halfe houre paſt when I was arm'd,
Not ſure, though hoping of this good ſucceſſe,
I askt his bleſſing, and from firſt to laſt
Told him my pilgrimage: but his flawd heart
Alacke too weake the conflict to ſupport,
Twixt two extremes of paſſion, ioy and greefe,
Burſt ſmilingly.

Baſt. This ſpeech of yours hath mooued me,
And ſhall perchance do good, but ſpeake you on,
You looke as you had ſomething more to ſay.

Alb. If there be any more more wofull, hold it in.
For I am almoſt readie to diſſolue.

Edg. This would haue ſeem'd a period to ſuch
As loue not ſorrow, but another to amplifie too much,
VVould make much more, and top extremity.
VVhilſt I was big in clamor, came there in a man,
VVho hauing ſeene me in my worſt eſtate,
Shund my abhord ſociety: but then finding
Who twas that ſo indur'd, with his ſtrong armes
He faſtened on my necke, and bellow'd out
As hee'd burſt heauen, threw me on my father,
And told the pitteous tale of Lear and him,
That euer eare receiued, which in recounting
His greefe grew puiſant, and the ſtrings of life
Began to cracke twice, then the trumpets ſounded,
And there I left him traunſt.

Alb. But who was this?

Edg.

Edg. Kent ſir, the baniſht Kent, who in diſguiſe,
Followed his enemy king, and did him ſeruice,
Improper for a ſlaue.

Enter one with a bloody knife.

Gent. Helpe, helpe.

Alb. What kinde of helpe? what meanes that bloody knife?

Gent. Its hot, it ſmokes, it came euen from the heart of——

Alb. Who man? ſpeake.

Gent. Your Lady ſir, your Lady; and her ſiſter
By her is poyſon'd: ſhe has confeſt it.

Baſt. I was contracted to them both, all three
Now marry in an inſtant.

Alb. Produce their bodies be they aliue or dead:
This iuſtice of the heauens that makes vs tremble,
Touches not with pity. Enter Kent

Edg. Here comes Kent ſir.

Alb. O tis he, the time will not allow
The complement that very manners vrges.

Kent. I am come to bid my King and maſter aye good night,
Is he not heere?

Alb. Great things of vs forgot. Speake Edmund, where's the king, and wher's Cordelia? Seeſt thou this obiect Kent?

The bodies of Gonorill & Regan are brought in.

Kent. Alacke, why thus.

Baſt. Yet Edmund was belou'd: the one the other poiſond for my ſake, and after ſlew her ſelfe.

Alb. Euen ſo, couer their faces.

Baſt. I pant for life: ſome good I meane to do deſpight of my owne nature. Quickly ſend, bee briefe, into the Caſtle for my Writ, tis on the life of Lear, & on Cordelia: nay, ſend in time.

Alb. Run, run, O run.

Edg. To who my Lord? who hath the office?
Send thy token of repreeue.

Baſt. Well thought on, take my ſword, giue it the Captaine.

Alb. Haſt thee for thy life.

Baſt. He hath commiſſion from thy wife & me, to hang Cordelia in the priſon, and to lay the blame vpon her own deſpaire.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE King Lear (STC 22293) LONDON, 1608 [1619] THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.20) Octavo

Alb. The Gods defend her, beare him hence a while.

Enter Lear with Cordelia in his armes.

Lear. Howle, howle, howle, howle: O you are men of stones,
Had I your tongues and eyes, I would vse them so,
That heauens vault should cracke: O, she is gone for euer.
I know when one is dead, and when one liues,
Shees dead as earth: Lend me a looking-glasse,
If that her breath will mist and staine the stone, she then liues.

Kent. Is this the promist end?

Edg. Or image of that horror? Alb. Fall and cease.

Lear. This feather stirs, she liues, if it be so, it is a chance that do's redeeme all sorrowes that euer I haue felt.

Kent A my good master.

Lear. Prethee away.

Edg. Tis Noble Kent your friend.

Lear. A plague vpon you murdrous traitors all, I might haue saued her, now shees gone for euer: Cordelia, Cordelia, stay a little. What ist thou sayst? her voice was euer soft, gentle & low, an excellent thing in women. I kild the slaue that was a hanging thee. Cap. Tis true my Lords hee did.

Lear. Did I not fellow? I ha seene the day, that with my biting Fauchion I would haue made them skip: I am old now, and these same crosses spoile me. Who are you? Mine eyes are none o'th best, Ile tell you straight.

Kent. If Fortune bragd of two she loued or hated,
One of them we behold.

Lear. Are not you Kent?

Kent. The same your seruant Kent, wher is your seruãt Caius?

Lear. Hees a good fellow, I can tell that,
Heel strike and quickly too, hees dead and rotten.

Kent. No my good Lord, I am the very man.

Lear. Ile see that straight.

Kent. That from your life of difference and decay,
Haue followed your sad steps.

Lear. You are welcome hether.

Kent. Nor no man else: All's cheerelesse, darke, and deadly,
Your eldest daughters haue fore-doom'd themselues,
And

And desperately are dead. Lear. So I thinke too.

Alb. He knowes not what he sees, and vaine it is
That we present vs to him.

Edgar Very bootlesse. Enter Captaine

Cap: Edmund is dead my Lord.

Alb: Thats but a trifle heere: you Lords and Noble friends, know our intent, what comfort to this decay may come, shalbe applied: for vs we will resigne during the life of this old maiesty to him our absolute power, you to your rights with boote, and such addition as your honors haue more then merited, al friends shall taste the wages of their vertue, and all foes the cup of their deseruings: O see, see.

Lear. And my poore foole is hangd: no, no life, why should a dog, a horse, a rat haue life, and thou no breath at all? O thou wilt come no more, neuer, neuer, neuer: pray vndo this button, thanke you sir, O, o, o, o, o.

Edg. He faints, my Lord, my Lord.

Lear: Breake heart, I prethe breake.

Edg: Looke vp my Lord.

Kent: Vex not his ghost, O let him passe,
he hates him much, that would vpon the wracke
Of this tough world stretch him out longer.

Edg: O he is gone indeed.

Kent: The wonder is, he hath endured so long,
He but vsurpt his life.

Duke: Beare them from hence, our present businesse
Is to generall woe: friends of my soule, you twaine
Rule in this kingdome, and the good state sustaine.

Kent: I haue a iourney sir, shortly to go,
My master cals, and I must not say no.

Duke The waight of this sad time we must obay,
Speake what we feele, not what we ought to say:
The oldest haue borne most, we that are yong,
Shall neuer see so much, nor liue so long.
